M&S consults its staff over store closure

MARKS & Spencer has begun talks with staff over the closure of its Harlow town centre store after its plans for an out-of-town food outlet were rejected.

The retailer launched the consultation, which will affect 63 posts, after members of Harlow Council's development management committee blocked plans for a Simply Food shop at the Queensgate Centre, off Edinburgh Way, Harlow.

Chris Green, representing Harvey Centre owners Sapphire Harlow Nominee Limited and Water Gardens owners Standard Life, spoke at the meeting on Thursday.

Urging councillors to reject the planning application, he said Little Walk would provide an "excellent opportunity for M&S" but the company was not willing to discuss the option.

He added: "Our client has invested considerably in the Harvey Centre, improving its attraction to shoppers. They've also invested heavily in incentives to ensure the Harvey Centre maintains its existing occupiers and attracts new ones to the town centre.

"[Retailers] are spending significant sums and with investment like this there is clearly opportunity. But while others invest, and improve, Marks and Spencer choose otherwise."

But Adam Colton, head of property at M&S, said the Broad Walk store was not commercially viable and emphasised the company's desire for surface level parking at the Simply Food store.

He said: "While objectors have criticised us for not investing in the town centre store, its trading performance could not justify an increase in the cost space of the store with no likely return.

"The Harlow store is underperforming and we have reached a situation where we need to take action.

"We want to retain a store in Harlow and continue to provide a service to Harlow. We did not make this decision lightly as, in the short term, we may lose trade. But in the medium and long term this is the only solution for our business."

Mr Colton said the 63 staff in the existing Broad Walk store would all be offered jobs at the Queensgate Centre outlet.

Harlow Council leader Jon Clempner said: "As a loyal supporter of Marks & Spencer I am extremely disappointed that they have not chosen to invest in their own store or take advice about this particular proposal and use the town centre site."

Councillor Sue Livings added: "I think it is a big disappointment to us all that they are thinking and wanting to move away.

"The town centre is coming up and it will be vibrant."

Harlow Council's decision doesn't surprise me in the slightest. What do you expect from a Labour-run council. They haven't got a clue! It will be a huge loss losing Marks and Spencer from #Harlow town centre. Especially because of their values

Martyn Fry

Stupid decision all round. Hard to get to retail park without car but shame M&S couldn't have relocated somewhere in the town centre. Think they are cutting their nose off to spite their face.

Jessica Mary

The option of M&S Simply Food up the town and a big M&S clothes store in Queensgate would have been a great compromise but I guess no one in the council suggested that. How is it M&S fault, they are a massive company wanted to make a profit. Feel sorry for the staff though.

Michael Fairer

Why is it the council's fault? They were trying to protect the local town centre. M&S had already said they were planning to close the town one if they opened a new one at Templefields. M&S are the ones in the wrong disregarding their loyal customers that support the high street. Why move out to an out-of-town site?

Councillors reject proposals for Simply Food store

PLANS for a Marks & Spencer Simply Food store in Queensgate Centre, Edinburgh Way, have been rejected by Harlow Council's development management committee.

The company was seeking permission to convert a former electronics store next to Cineworld at the Queensgate Centre to one that will allow the sale of food, drink and other goods. The plan also includes the provision of a cafe.

But councillors decided that businesses should always try to stay within a town centre area before looking at out-of-town locations, and rejected the plans.

Councillors accused M&S of lacking flexibility when considering alternatives such as investing in its existing store in Broad Walk or relocating to Little Walk.

Adam Colton, head of property at M&S confirmed at the meeting that if plans were rejected the store would enter into consultation with its 63 staff to decide whether the Broad Walk store would be closed.

Speaking after the meeting, Councillor Tony Durcan, portfolio holder for regeneration & enterprise, said: "The development management committee's unanimous decision to reject planning permission is consistent with Harlow's retail planning policies and national policies, which aim to protect the vitality and viability of the town centre."

"Despite this decision we will continue to press M&S to stay in the town centre and be part of its regeneration along with other retailers who are investing in the town centre."

Halfon blasts M&amp;S decision as 'stupid'

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has branded the decision to reject plans for a new Marks & Spencer food store as "stupid and shortsighted".

The Conservative MP said councillors should hold their heads in shame for flushing 63 employees' livelihoods "down the toilet".

The company was seeking permission to convert a former electronics store next to Cineworld at the Queensgate Centre to a Simply Food outlet selling food, drink and other goods.

But the proposals were unanimously rejected by the council's development committee last Wednesday. Members felt the business should be retained in the town centre.

The following day M&S confirmed that, as a result of the decision, it would be entering into consultations with staff over the possible closure of the store in Broad Walk.

"I feel disgusted," Mr Halfon said. "It's an awful decision; I feel devastated for staff of the store."

Mr Halfon said he did all he could to protect jobs by speaking to senior officials at Harlow Council and M&S.

"This was a big ticket company that is now leaving Harlow," he said. "What does this say for aspiration?"

A spokeswoman for Marks & Spencer, which has had a presence in Harlow town centre since 1969, confirmed it was speaking to employees with regards to the store's closure.

"We are disappointed by the outcome," she said. "We had indicated we would consult with our staff on the closure of the Broad Walk store and have spoken to our employees."

"The decision to consult is not one we have taken lightly and it is our intention to offer redeployment options for all colleagues across the local area."

Speaking after the meeting, Councillor Tony Durcan, portfolio holder for regeneration & enterprise, said: "Meetings have been held between the council and senior executives of M&S over several months to explore options for keeping them in the town centre. We believe, particularly with the regeneration of the town centre, that a suitable home could be found for them."

"We also believe that residents and businesses want flagship stores with a long association with Harlow to stay in the town centre where they are easily accessible for shoppers of all ages."

M11 plan is plaster to wound that really requires stitches

SIR I attended the public meeting at Harlow Baptist Church Hall organised by local councillors to discuss the proposed new M11 junction.

Several times during the debate Cllr Rodney Bass referred to the proposed scheme as being the Harlow Relief Road and also a bypass. This perhaps, may have been better described as the Harlow Snarl-up Road - a bypass it most certainly is not.

The main issue of concern is that the scheme is being dealt with at county level. Essex County Council cannot, therefore, encroach on land outside of its county boundaries. For the scheme to have a real chance of achieving a positive objective it must be dealt with by the Highways Agency.

The scheme as proposed is no better than applying a sticking plaster to a wound that requires stitches. In essence, it is a complete waste of money.

When Sir Frederick Gibberd designed the new town the route of the M11 was proposed for the western side. The town was therefore planned so that its major highway artery served the industrial areas accordingly. Sadly the Labour government of Harold Wilson decided to put the M11 in its current location, thereby destroying the architectural plan of Harlow.

It is imperative the new road is linked to the north western side of the town. The Harlow North development proposals will in time place a further 20,000 vehicle movements a day into the network; how on earth will the system cope with that?

Interestingly, no account appears to have been made for the new Gilden Way development that now has planning consent. Indeed, one has to question what allowance has been made for the continued Newhall development?

During the meeting both Cllr Bass and the highways officer agreed the scheme on the table is not the solution. It is, however, the option most likely to gain Government funding. What a crass way to plan our highways and infrastructure.

Our politicians and planners urgently need to get their heads together and put a strategic plan into place that for once is for the benefit of the people and business of this town, ignoring political ego that was so clearly demonstrated at the meeting.

Alan Hodgson

Old Harlow (full address supplied)

A northern bypass is what residents want and deserve

SIR For the first time in my life I attended a Conservative Party meeting. The subject was the proposed M11 junction cutting along Gilden Way through Old Harlow.

The Tories had brought down their big gun, Cllr Rodney Bass, who is responsible for turning off Harlow's street lights. He was here to persuade us the junction would be a good thing for Harlow.

The audience to a person told him what Harlow needs is a bypass to the north but he was having none of it. Every comment and question was fended off. While we were listening to each other we were clearly talking to a closed mind.

Apparently Essex County Council does not count traffic movements any more. In this day and age it uses mobile phone movements. The audience seemed astonished.

The meeting broke up with angry and frustrated people who had not been listened to.

This is not the end of this sorry saga, only the beginning. The county council will have to convene proper public meetings in the new year to gauge local feelings about the proposals. I urge as many Star readers to attend and protest if Harlow's traffic situation is not to be made worse.

Harlow Council has already passed a resolution calling for a northern bypass. This is what the local community want and it is what they deserve.

County Cllr Michael Danvers (Labour)

Tunmeade, Harlow

Campaign needs the support of town's younger generation

SIR The public meeting concerning the impact on Old Harlow of proposals for an M11 junction 7a was perhaps disappointingly attended, especially given the potential impacts on the town as a whole.

The same central group was there, all veterans of the 'Stop The Gilden Way Development' campaign and magnificent they were too.

Mind you, other than a very erudite and non-political county council official there

Zero tolerance approach is not cost-effective

SIR In response to Alan Jewell's letter (Star, October 23), I would like to point out that I have actively supported Travellers' rights to receive accommodation they should have had under the 1968 Caravan Sites Act and subsequent legislation.

Travellers were denied these rights by district councils, many of them Conservative-led, even though it was statute law. It appears Mr Jewell is not too concerned about Conservative councillors breaking the law since 1968.

Recent research by Anglia Ruskin University highlights the lack of provision of permanent and transit Traveller sites. Official estimates show a shortage of at least 5,300 pitches in England and Wales while research highlights many of the Traveller sites were provided before 1994 and have not been upgraded to take account of increasing population.

The two sites provided in Harlow were at a time when Labour enjoyed solid majorities. Essex County Council, which manages those sites, has not increased the number of pitches and have even allowed nine pitches at the Fern Hill Lane site to become derelict.

Due to discriminatory laws, Travellers have been forced to trespass on land because they are not prepared to see their way of life destroyed by unjust laws. Trespass is a civil matter and the police can only invoke Section 61 powers if certain criteria is met, such as criminal damage.

Mr Jewell may be interested to learn that I attended the Essex Police and Crime Commissioner's meeting where I congratulated the police on their operational tactics with regards to unauthorised encampments. This was because Essex Police in Harlow have followed the Association of Chief Police Officers guidance issued in 2011 which takes account of human rights and equality laws.

Harlow Conservative Party's 'zero tolerance approach' will not solve the situation and is not cost-effective. As an example, the cost to Bristol City Council in enforcing unauthorised encampments in the 1990's reached a peak of £350,000.

However, 10 years later and after building one permanent and one transit site, it had reduced its average annual enforcement costs to just £5,000.

As a councillor I have a duty to help my constituents solve their issues. Unlike Conservative councillors, I believe in providing permanent and cost-effective solutions. I also have a public sector duty not to discriminate against any section of society. I believe I have discharged both those duties.

Now is the time for Conservative councils to discharge their duties towards Travellers and build the sites that should have been built decades ago.

Cllr Wanda Forman (Labour)
Civic Centre, Harlow

was little to beat. It was all rather Dibley-esque and therein lies the problem.

I know about the demography of the old town. The older generation - by definition with longer memories, sometimes more learned and certainly with more time to do research - will form the nucleus of the opposition but we need help from the younger residents of the area to swell the numbers and energise the debate.

It is their children who will be under threat from the upsurge in traffic, their school run that will become even more difficult than it is now, their general living environment that will be spoilt and their town too that will grind to a halt.

There is a generally accepted alternative in the northern bypass but if it has any hope at all then it must have a visible and obvious general support.

So come on you twenty, thirty and forty-somethings, let's be 'aving you! Your local community needs you, so join up and help us to get this quick fix turned into a pukka job.

Looking forward to seeing many more of you at the next consultation.

John Coote

Roden Close, Harlow

M&S debacle raises some very serious questions

SIR As own goals go, Harlow Council has scored a cracker over the M&S debacle (Star, October 23).

Now that M&S has called the council's bluff, officers will be able to quickly calibrate the sequential cost of the store vacating Broad Walk without too much difficulty.

I suspect existing business are not too happy and 63 families have had their lives (and certainly their Christmases) devastated by the council's incompetence cum ego-tripping.

Senior officers have some serious questions to answer and local councillors need to relearn the art of questioning advice. Having been both a Harlow councillor and an Essex county councillor, I learned that officers are not always right and quite often believe that elected representatives should adopt their views. Their role is to give impartial advice and it is for councillors to make the political decisions in the best interests of the town within the framework of the law.

This is a very bad business and there should be an independent review to establish the facts and responsibilities.

On the plus side is that this episode demonstrates why we in Harlow have one of the best MPs in the country in Robert Halfon. He will always put Harlow first; it's a pity our councillors could not do likewise.

Guy Mitchinson

Joyners Field, Harlow

Just because it's cheaper doesn't mean it's the answer

SIR I can only assume Essex County Council Council's highways chief Cllr Rodney Bass seldom travels by car in Harlow and doesn't have A-level geography.

The two fundamental barriers between the A414 and the M11 are the River Stort and the railway line. Any link from the A414 to the M11 will have to cross these.

To try and use the existing crossings at Harlow without substantial widening is pointless - much like the recent improvements to the roundabout near Harlow Town railway station.

The main obstacle through Harlow is the proliferation of unnecessary traffic lights and a lack of joined up thinking whereby two retail parks are not linked by their access roads. This should have been a condition placed upon their development.

To make an ill-considered extra junction from Gilden Way is nonsense; it will do nothing to ease congestion in Harlow.

To do something simply because it is cheaper is a nonsense if it doesn't actually work. Better to do nothing at all and use the money elsewhere.

In general terms, traffic flow through Harlow could be improved vastly for very little cost. Remove traffic lights from all bus lanes and paint white lines on the carriageway giving buses right of way.

We have bus and pedestrian lights on Second Avenue so poorly designed that a single bus can turn the lights to red three times as it progresses. It triggers the lights but has to stop for the pedestrian lights. It triggers them a second time as it pulls away again but then stops at the bus stop, and then triggers them again as it finally gets to the junction.

On occasions when the lights are out of service, the traffic flow is much improved.

Change the junction/traffic lights to allow traffic to exit both right and left from the Water Gardens car park. This would take considerable traffic from the roundabout which is often blocked solid.

Thirdly, allow traffic from Harlow to filter west onto the A414 into the left lane whilst traffic from Sawbridgeworth could exit the roundabout onto the right lane. This sort of arrangement exists on a roundabout west of Hertford on the A414/B159 when travelling towards Hertford, so it is perfectly feasible.

I sometimes feel an eight-year-old with a box of Dinky tools could do a better job of designing the traffic flow.

Derek Hutchinson
Westfield, Harlow

Junction plan seems to be a daft way to waste £50m

SIR I read the Star's report about Cllr Rodney Bass's reasons for not supporting a northern bypass and was astounded by the logic of his arguments.

He said a northern route was no more than a vision and too expensive. Yet he proposed spending £50m on a route which leaves in place a major route which passes access roads to both of the town's railway stations, goes straight through one of the town's only two industrial areas, straight through a major shopping and commercial complex and enters Gilden Way within yards of Fawbert and Barnard School and Mark Hall School.

I may be daft but isn't spending £50m on making our traffic problems worse a bit of a waste of money?

Ian Kennett
address supplied

Council should first consider if town still needs a market

SIR I read in the Star that the council wants to extend Harlow's market. Surely they need to attract stallholders which is something they have not been able to do for many years.

I am 60 years old and can remember 50 years ago when the market square was crammed full with stalls of many kinds selling everything you might need. It was hard work making your way from stall to stall as the market was so busy.

From what I have seen in the past months there are now only a handful of stalls.

The council needs to think if a market is needed. If so, some proper thought needs to go into seeing what Harlow needs in the market.

Hit-and-run driver left my grandson lying in the road

SIR On Saturday, October 18 my 17-year-old grandson was knocked off his moped at the roundabout at Staple Tie.

As he was going round the roundabout an Audi TT hit the back wheel of his bike and knocked him straight off. The car was then driven at a high speed towards Katherine's without the driver stopping to make sure my grandson was not badly injured.

I cannot believe people do not stop at accidents they have caused and report them to the police. Whatever is this world coming to?

My grandson was not badly injured but was very shocked and had to go to hospital for a check up. But there could have been a much worse outcome and one we would not have liked to deal with.

His moped was badly damaged. He had only had it for three weeks and it was his pride and joy. My son and his partner had saved up to buy it for him as a reward for passing his exams and getting good results!

I would like to say a massive thank you to the couple who helped him to pick up his bike and raised £100 to help towards the repairs of the bike. We, as a family, would also like to thank everyone who donated; it just goes to prove there are some lovely people still living in Harlow.

All I can say to the Audi driver is that what goes around comes around. Next time, stop.

It's time the police supported those who pay their wages

SIR In response to the letter concerning parking on grass verges (Star, October 23), a few years ago people were able to park in Priory Avenue to enable them to walk to the station.

They were people who were going to London to earn an honest day's work at great expense with ever-increasing fares. The council, in its wisdom, stopped them parking by putting in yellow lines.

Yet it appears to be okay for Travellers to park on the green with vehicles those commuters could only dream of owning.

They do not pay tax or rates but can do what they like. The police are gutless.

It is about time our police force started to support the people who pay their wages.

The wait's over for EastEnders' newbie Davood

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AN actor from Harlow has made his debut as the newest resident of Walford in top BBC soap EastEnders.

Davood Ghadami plays Khoroush 'Kush' Kazemi, a character who producers say will "spice up the market".

Viewers saw him make his first appearance in Albert Square last week.

Describing his character, Davood said: "He's a bit of an Essex boy. He turns up on the Square and is setting up a market stall.

"He's in direct competition with a few others on the market. He is genuinely a nice guy, though, and he wants to get on with people."

Davood, who was born in Harlow told the Radio Times: "I think he fancies Shabnam [Masood] - he probably fancies a lot of the ladies, to be honest. Some characters enjoy it but some don't enjoy it so much and I think Shabnam is one of those."

In the article he reveals how other members of the cast had helped him settle in.

"I wasn't given a specific mentor and was lucky enough to choose one," he said. "I chatted to Nitin Ganatra

CHEERS: Davood Ghadami with Natalie Cassidy, as Sonia Fowler

[who plays Masood Ahmed] as I was doing some of my first scenes with him and went from there. He's very much looked after me, steered me in the right direction and has shown me around."

He added: "I'm so excited to have joined the cast of EastEnders. 'I've been a fan of the show for as long as I can remember. It's surreal to get to work with these actors that I've spent so many evenings watching on television."

It is an exciting time for Davood, who has previously appeared in episodes of Doctor Who, Silent Witness Casualty and Taggart. He has also done a variety of film and theatre work number of properties in and around Harlow, said he was very proud of his son.

"He has been acting for around 10 years and has been in a lot of things," said Mr Ghadami. "Everybody is really excited and we are all very proud of him."

"He is a good boy, very down-to-Earth and a real gentleman."

EastEnders' executive producer Dominic Treadwell-Collins said: "Davood's a brilliant actor and a proper gentleman. We've had Kush in our minds for a while now - a new leading man to spice up the market and set some female hearts fluttering."

Davood is currently filming Christmas scenes for the programme.

MPs visit town to champion Labour policy

TWO Labour MPs spent the day in Harlow to highlight their party's One Nation policy as the General Election battle begins.

Labour's general election campaign deputies - shadow minister for woman and equalities Gloria De Piero and shadow cabinet office minister Jonathan Ashworth - hit the campaign trail with Suzy Stride, the party's parliamentary candidate for Harlow, to speak to residents.

Ms De Piero said: "Labour will get the next generation back into work with a compulsory jobs guarantee for young people out of work for a year and for the over 25s out of work for two years.

"Under these plans the long-term unemployed would have to take a job or face losing their benefit."

Mr Ashworth added: "Like so many of Britain's towns Harlow is a brilliant place with so much going for it, but it is being badly let down by its Tory MP and the Tory Government."

Caravans destroyed in blaze at Travellers site

TWO caravans were destroyed and a third damaged when fire broke out at the Travellers site in Fern Hill Lane, Harlow, on Friday.

Firefighters from Harlow and Sawbridge-worth were sent to the scene shortly before midnight. An ambulance crew was also dispatched but their services were not required.

A spokesman for Essex Police said: "Nobody was in the caravans at the time and no-one was injured."

"The origin of the fire is not thought to be suspicious."

Families reveal the stories behind town's memorials

GEMMA GARDNER

READERS have been revealing the stories behind the names on Harlow's five war memorials as part of the First World War centenary commemorations.

A group of volunteers, who are helping to organise various projects to mark the event, appealed for families of those named to come forward.

Doris Loomes nee Morris, 88, was born in Harlow and knew five of the men whose names are inscribed on the Netteswell & Burnt Mill Memorial.

She told the Star: "Leslie Elves lived in Burnt Mill Village and Bobby Genesis lived at Freshwaters.

"Cyril Linsell lived The Glebe, Netteswell. He went out with one of my dad's old girlfriends. Ken Searle lived in Burnt Mill Village. Searles Bakery that was in the village."

Kenneth Percy Searle, whose father Percy was a baker, died on December 14, 1944 at 42nd General Hospital Haifa. He is buried on Israel Khayat Beach in the Israel War Cemetery.

Resident Stephen Hulcoop unearthed details of Geoffrey Charles Pavitt, whose name appears on the Old Harlow War Memorial.

Geoffrey was a crew member of a Bristol Blenheim bomber that was shot down on February 22, 1941 over the

GREAT PARNDON WAR MEMORIAL

North Sea after a dogfight. He was 24.

Before serving in the war he was a postman in Stansted, living was his mother and brother Jim, in Old Harlow. His father, Charles, was killed in action in France on August 31, 1918, a member of East Kent Regiment.

Sgt Pavitt was a wireless operator and had been over the North Sea many times and is remembered on the Runnymede memorial in Surrey on panel 56.

Another resident remembered Ronald Frances Drake whose name is on the Old Harlow War Memorial.

Ronald, who was serving on the submarine Stonehenge when it was sunk in March 1944, lived in "the big house at the top of Churchgate Street".

Harlow has five war memorials and several war graves. These have been documented on a newly-produced map, which will be available from Harlow Council.

Television stars visit Cossor

DO you remember when two famous television and cabaret stars visited Cossor in the 1980s?

An article in the company magazine which was given to Nostalgia by reader Bill Golding highlights the two separate visits by Jo Shelton and Susan Maughan, pictured above.

In the piece, which was published in a newsletter for Cossor employees, Miss Shelton was described as "charming in her mink stole and generous with her autographs as she chatted in her friendly way with Cossor fans".

Miss Maughan, a singer who was 19 years old at the time of her visit also spent time with Cossor employees and was "immediately and enchantingly at home on her tour of the factories".

MEP pledges support for emergency sites

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

LABOUR Euro MP Richard Howitt pledged his support for an emergency Traveller site in Harlow when he appeared on television.

The former leader of Harlow Council appeared on the BBC2 programme Sunday Politics alongside Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

There are already 44 authorised plots in the town but during the past year Harlow Council has spent more than £20,000 clearing 68 unlawful traveller camps.

It says it was regularly being targeted as a third of land in the Essex town was "green space".

In Peterborough, the local authority has set up three emergency stopping places in a bid to tackle the problem with unauthorised sites. The sites can be used by Travellers for up to 28 days a year.

Mr Halfon said: "The problem with having temporary Traveller sites is that it doesn't look like Travellers are using them. Sometimes the Travellers themselves won't go on it. They have family disputes or there are different families of Travellers and they won't go on the same site."

He added: "It also acts like a magnet for other Travellers and other illegal encampments in the area."

DISPUTE: Robert Halfon, left, says Harlow is under siege from illegal Traveller encampments while Richard Howitt, right, says he would support an emergency site in the town

Mr Halfon, who has gathered 2,000 signatures on a petition calling on the authorities to do more, said the Chief Constable of Essex Police had appealed the Travellers. He also accused the Police and Crime Commissioner for Essex of "speaking up for the bureaucracy".

He added: "In some ways we've been let down by our Labour-run local authority."

"It's just unsustainable. There are 3-4,000 trying to get a home and they're not allowed to break the law."

East of England MEP Richard Howitt said he did not support illegal encampments but added: "What we [Labour Party] are against is the chronic lack of sites."

He pledged support for schemes like Peterborough and hit out at Mr Halfon for using "aggressive tactics".

Mr Howitt later tweeted: "As Harlow MP attacks Essex Tory Police Commissioner on Travellers I tell BBC Sunday Politics he won't hang on to seat with hardline Conservative positions."

SUCCESS:

Young performers win contract to star in national campaigns

TWO young performing arts students have joined Alphabet Kidz modelling division - the first two from the Harlow-based Kevin Adams Academy to do so.

Avia Adams, 9, and Mariella Moss, 10, joined the Kevin Adams Academy - based at Passmores Academy - in 2009 and 2010 respectively.

The pair will be part of two national campaigns.

Avia has been chosen to be the face of Marks & Spencer online and Mariella will be featured in the new Macmillan advertising campaign.

Kevin Adams said: "Mariella will be seen in 14 different set-ups for the new Macmillan advertising campaign and has put her acting skills to great use.

"Avia started off shooting five outfits that ended up being 20 as the advertising agency were so impressed with her work."

"The academy and Alphabet Kidz are very happy with how all the students have had such an amazing reaction from all of their castings; words like professional, focused and talent have been key words of praise."

COMMUNITY NEWS

Black and white charity ball raises £15k

A CHARITY providing support for adults and families of children with autism has raised more than £15,000 by holding a black and white ball.

It is the third year Harlow-based PACT for Autism has held the fundraiser and said it was delighted with how the evening went.

Former EastEnders actor Ricky Groves, who played the role of Gary Hobbs in the BBC soap, was among the 300 guests who attended the glitzy event at the Manor of Groves Hotel in High Wych.

Chief executive Sam Fancett said: "The PACT for Autism team are absolutely shattered. It's a big event to pull together on top of the services that we provide, but it's our annual celebration and we wouldn't miss it for the world."

"We would like to thank everyone who has supported not only the charity ball but also the work that PACT for Autism does in our community."

Childhood pals gear up for a 3,000-mile drive across Europe

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

TWO childhood friends are planning to drive 3,000 miles through Europe in an old banger for cancer prevention.

Lettings agent Steve Bees, of New Pond Street, Harlow, and strategic account manager Paul Barrow, of Bishop's Stortford, will drive from Bishop's Stortford to Barcelona – passing through Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Vatican City, Monaco, Spain and France on the way – to raise money for the World Cancer Research Fund.

The pair, who are both 34, will set off on their fundraising tour in a Subaru Forester they have decorated themselves.

Paul and Steve, who became friends at St John's School in Epping, have been planning the trip for 18 months. They will set off on November 14.

Paul was only a baby when his grandfather died of lung cancer. A friend's mother also died of the disease.

He said: "It's a disease

that affects millions of people and it's a global problem. As we're driving through so many countries it seemed fitting to help prevent a disease that affects every country on the planet."

He added: "If I'm going to drive 3,000 miles in a banger it could only be with someone who I've known for a long time.

"You need to be good friends if you're going to be in a car with someone for several hours a day."

"We plan to cover 10 countries in 13 days which is a big challenge, but one we think is going to be a really good laugh."

Steve added: "We thought decorating the car would get more attention which we hope will result in more donations."

"Paul and I have both been a bit overwhelmed with the amount of support we are getting and are determined to raise as much money as possible for such a worthy cause."

To sponsor the pair, visit www.justgiving.com/BangerDriveForCancer.

Rectory friends to hold a fundraiser

A CHRISTMAS shop and pamper event is to be held by the Friends of Netteswell Rectory. Proceeds will go to Netteswell Rectory, in Manston Road, Harlow, which is home to nine adults with learning disabilities and is part of the national disability charity Livability.

Admission to the Christmas shop is free. There will be stalls selling gifts as well as a beauty boutique offering a massage or nail painting.

The festive event will be held at Paringdon Sports and Social Club on Sunday, November 9 from 2-6pm.

To pre-book a pamper time session in the beauty boutique, call Leah on (01279) 905699 or (01279) 705105.

Chance to learn cake decorating

THE Adult Community Learning Centre in Partridge Road, Harlow, will be running a course to teach the skills involved in cake decorating.

The 22-week course will cover the design and decoration of a wide selection of sugar paste and royal iced cakes.

Lessons about the use of colour, design, hygiene and health and safety will also be covered so that students will be able to work to a professional standard.

Although the course is non-accredited it is the equivalent of an NCFE Level 1 or 2 qualification. The course starts on Monday (November 3) from 10am- 12.30pm or Wednesday, November 12 from 7-9.30pm.

For more details or to enrol, call (033) 3032158 or visit www.essex.gov.uk/adultlearning.

Restaurant cash for Daniels Trust

A RESTAURANT hosted a fundraiser to support the Rhys Daniels Trust.

Zaika Indian Restaurant, in Epping, raised £1,415 from the evening which included performances from Tee Green, Nikita Holly, Sheila Gordham and Sarah Booker.

Proceeds will go to the charity's 'Home from Home' appeal.

The Rhys Daniel Trust provides self-contained accommodation at six specialist children's hospital around the UK. It is provided free of charge to families to use while their child is undergoing medical treatment away from home.

The charity was set up by Epping couple Barry and Carmen Daniels in 1994 after their children, Rhys and Charly, were diagnosed with Late Infantile Batten's Disease. Rhys died in December 1998 and Charly two months later in February 1999.

Lottery winner

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice weekly lottery drawn on Friday, October 24 was the holder of ticket number 103714. The winner lives in North Weald.

The rollover prize was not won and will go forward to tomorrow's draw (Friday) when it will be £800.

Town Park fireworks to light up the sky

FINAL preparations are under way for Harlow's free fireworks spectacular which takes place at the Town Park Showground on Sunday.

The event, one of the biggest free admission displays in the east of England, has been held for more than 40 years and attracts huge crowds.

It is organised by Harlow Council with support from the Great Parndon Community Association.

This year's festivities will begin at 5.30pm with a funfair and the Heart radio music roadshow hosted by breakfast show presenters Martin and Su.

Harlow Council chairman Ian Beckett will light the bonfire at 6.45pm and the 20-minute fireworks display is scheduled to start at 7.15pm.

For safety reasons, Fifth Avenue will be closed to traffic between the Sainsbury's and Burnt Mill roundabouts from 5.15pm-8.30pm due to the large number of spectators expected to arrive on foot.

Residents who live in the area around the road closure will be given access and local diversions will also be in place.

There will be no parking at the Showground car park although a limited number of spaces will be available for blue badge holders arriving before 6.15pm. They will be able to leave when Fifth Avenue reopens at 8.30pm.

All other drivers are encouraged to use the nearby train station or town centre car parks.

Race ace given awards scheme funding support

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A WHEELCHAIR athlete from Harlow is one of 24 sportsmen and women who have been named as stars of the future as part of an Inspired Athletes Awards scheme.

Richard Chiassaro, 32, of Seymours, has been competing in wheelchair athletics for Harlow Athletic Club since 2009 and is hoping to represent Great Britain at the Paralympic Games in Rio in 2016.

All 24 athletes receive financial support from Active Essex, Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea borough council in partnership with the Essex Athlete Foundation.

Mr Chiassaro has received gold tier status awarded to elite performers recognised by their national governing bodies or who are part of international/national training squads and teams.

The Inspired Athletes Awards were launched last year as part of the legacy of the London 2012 Olympic Games, Glasgow 2014 Commonwealth Games and other major championships.

The aim is to help the chosen competitors realise their sporting potential with the aid of financial support.

Mr Chiassaro said: "Two years ago I was thinking about stopping racing as it was so expensive."

"Since I received the Inspired Athlete Award I have moved from 15th in the world to 7th over 100 metres. I can focus on training and maintain equipment with no worries now."

Gary Sullivan, chairman of Active Essex, said: "After the success of Essex County Council's Team Essex Ambassador awards, we are delighted to offer funding to our local athletes as part of our Inspired Athletes scheme."

"With the Rio Olympics 2016 in their sights, this scheme will enable them to achieve their ambitions and strive for Olympic gold."

Councillor Ray Gooding, cabinet member for sport and physical activity at Essex County Council, added: "Being physically active helps us lead healthier lives and helps us tackle many chronic conditions."

"Supporting local athletes enables us to establish Essex as a county where we take sports and its health benefits seriously."

"Essex has traditionally invested in supporting talented athletes through a previous scheme which saw eight of our athletes participate in London 2012 with three bringing home a number of medals."

The 24 athletes will also act as ambassadors for sport in Essex.

Overnight closures of M11 slip roads at Harlow

THE entry and exit slip roads at junction 7 of the M11 at Harlow will be closed overnight for resurfacing works.

The northbound entry slip road will be closed tonight (Thursday) from 8pm-6am. Traffic will be diverted south along the M11 and then west on the M25 to junction 26 before returning eastbound and then northbound.

The northbound exit slip road and southbound entry slip road will be closed tomorrow (Friday) from 8pm-6am. Northbound traffic will continue to junction 8 before returning on the southbound to leave at junction 7. The southbound traffic will also be diverted to junction 8.

HARLOW
Photographic Club has been given a new laptop computer to help members develop and improve their digital photography skills.

The club was presented with the equipment by the Stansted Airport Community Trust.

It also won a printer after entering a national photographic magazine's competition and will be using their new equipment to improve their photography.

Two exhibitions showcasing members' work are currently being held at the library in the town centre as well as in the Harlow Playhouse gallery.

The Playhouse exhibition features a selection of photos taken by members at the First World War memorial dedication service held in Potter Street during the summer.

Dispute over county's pothole repair claims

CLAIMS by Essex County Council that it was winning the battle against potholes on the county's roads have been greeted with disbelief by one Harlow councillor.

Dan Long, who has been waging a campaign to get holes on the town's roads repaired, said he was shocked by County Hall's statement that it was getting to grips with the problem.

Cllr Long, one of five UKIP councillors elected in May, said that in his Bush Fair ward there were still potholes that he described as "huge and dangerous".

"Harlow must be the only place in Essex where the reduction of potholes is minimal," he said this week.

"You only have to come and take a look around Longfield and Spencers Croft to see the amount of potholes we have here."

Cllr Long regularly reports the potholes he sees to the highways department at County Hall.

"There is one pothole in Longfield which I reported nearly two years ago and it is still there," he said.

"The residents within my ward and the residents of Harlow in general feel like they are being neglected when it comes to street and road repairs.

"And after reading the report that Essex County Council say pothole numbers have fallen, I think it's important to show that isn't the case in Harlow."

Cllr Long said he would like Cllr Rodney Bass, ECC's cabinet member for highways and transportation, to visit the town and see the defects from himself.

He added: "Before he gives out figures and statistics on the reduction of potholes in Essex, he should come to Harlow and see for himself why Harlow residents feel that they are being neglected."

The county council said last month that additional funding had been earmarked to tackle the problem and extra crews had been deployed on priority one roads – those with the highest volume of traffic – to speed up repairs.

As a result the number of potholes had fallen from more than 4,500 in June 2012 to 5,141.

The additional crews will now be fixing defects on the 700 worst local urban roads across Essex by March next year.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Police renew M11 crash plea
WITNESSES to a crash on the M11 which left a car passenger with serious injuries are being urged to contact accident investigators.

The crash happened between junctions 8 and 9 of the northbound carriageway at about 9.20pm on Wednesday, October 15. The victim, a woman in her 50s from the Beccles area in Suffolk, was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital where she remains in a serious condition.

Officers believe the driver of the white Skoda car in which she was travelling lost control of the vehicle during heavy rain. The driver and another passenger suffered slight injuries.

Any witnesses should contact PC Will Batchelor at the Chelmsford road policing office on 101.

Finance roadshow for business

HARLOW Council has teamed up with Essex County Council to hold a business finance roadshow in the town.

The event will give companies the opportunity to find out about the range of options available for both finance and support.

The roadshow will be taking place in the main hall at Latton Bush Centre between 10am and 2pm on Thursday, November 27, and is open to all businesses and entrepreneurs.

Car keys stolen during break-in

POLICE are appealing for information about a burglary at a house in Copshall Close, Harlow, during which keys to a vehicle were stolen.

The break-in happened sometime between 9.30am and 2.30pm on Tuesday, September 30.

Anybody who saw anyone acting suspiciously in the area around the time of the break-in is asked to contact DC Jo Lanz at Harlow CID on 101.

Candlelight protest gives light to switch-off anger

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MORE than 20 people holding candles took part in a vigil to demonstrate their opposition to the decision to switch off street lights in Harlow for five hours each night.

The protest held in Old Harlow was organised by Suzy Stride, Labour's parliamentary hopeful for Harlow, as part of an on-going campaign to persuade Essex County Council to reverse its decision and switch the lights back on.

The part-night lighting programme, which is in force throughout the county, was introduced in Harlow in March.

Street lights are switched off for five hours each night from 12-5am. The only exceptions are in the town centre, key road junctions and roads notorious for accidents which are excluded from the scheme.

The protest was timed to coincide with the end of British Summer Time, when clocks were turned back one hour.

Ms Stride told the Star: "I thought it was really good. We had more than 20 people there and lots more calling and emailing their support."

"The candlelight protest was a positive way to send a message to the Tories on Essex County Council that people are not happy their street lights are off and they want them to be switched back on.

"It is about feeling safe in your community, about not having a fear of crime. Savings will not be made for years and I feel the switch-off is an out-of-touch move by County Hall."

Ms Stride is hoping to hold several other events as part of the campaign. She is calling on all residents to tie a yellow ribbon around the street light they want to be turned back on.

"It is an Essex-wide initiative which we are bringing to Harlow," she said. "We're calling on residents to tie a yellow ribbon around the street light they want turned back on from now until Bonfire Night on November 5 when a lot of residents will be out later than usual."

She has also been running a petition about the scheme and described it as one of the biggest local issues among voters.

"People are really angry about it, they just do not feel safe," she said.

According to the county council there has been no adverse impact on crime figures since the lights were switched off.

A spokesman said: "We are unaware of any issues in Harlow since the programme began. We will, however, continue to respond to requests from the emergency services if there are areas which they believe should be exempt."

"We stand by our decision which was introduced to generate savings of more than £1m a year."

Burlesque night raises £650

A BURLESQUE night organised by a Harlow businesswoman has raised more than £650 for a hospice in Essex.

The Burlesque Jems cabaret student showcase was held at the Great Parndon Community Association, in Abercrombie Way, as part of a £50 challenge set by the Farleigh Hospice in Chelmsford.

More than 200 people attended the event during which more than 100 women from Burlesque Jems classes throughout the county took to the stage.

Lizzie Cheeld, of Burlesque Jems, said: "We were so pleased with how the evening went and we have had loads of enquiries since."

Burlesque Jems founder Jem Ayres added: "The glitter-filled event was a great success and raised more than £650 for the charity and donations are still flooding in."

"We chose the hospice as our chosen charity because it focuses on life rather than death."

"We also make it our mission to celebrate life in all its glorious shapes and sizes and encourage people to be the best version of themselves."

SCHOOL NEWS

Core subjects given an apple makeover

COOK SPINNEY PRIMARY Pupils spent a whole day improving their reading, writing, drawing and cooking skills when they took part in an apple-themed day.

The school, in Cooks Spinney, has an apple theme running all year round, with its behaviour management system and class names using the popular fruit for inspiration.

During the apple-themed day pupils used apples as the basis for written description work and undertook mathematical challenges by adapting apple muffin recipes for different batch sizes.

They also created decorations using apples, took part in a tasting test of different varieties, tried apple carving and wrote poems.

Headteacher Stuart Pope said: "Apple day is a school tradition and is a good opportunity for all year groups to get involved in activities based around the theme."

School hosts cultural food event

STEWARDS ACADEMY Students and staff at the Parnall Road secondary got a taste for the exotic when they held their ninth annual cultural food event.

The school opened its doors to hundreds of residents from the local community who popped in to try out dishes from all over the world.

Food was cooked and prepared in the school's kitchens as well as at pupils' homes and represented countries from all over the world.

Eman Mohamed, who helped organise the event, said there was a particularly impressive selection of British food produced by students from the food technology department as well as Stewards' in-house caterers.

"I am delighted with the response of the pupils, staff and parents to what has become a traditional part of the Stewards calendar," she added.

"Our award-winning Ethnic Minority Pupil Voice Group, ably led by Maddison, Hannah, Yasmin, Salma, Becky, Riley, Abdul and Taonga, have done a fabulous job of organising this very special event.

"We are so grateful to everyone who brought along such a variety of different dishes."

Nursery tots celebrate festival of lights

KIDDI CARU DAY NURSERY Youngsters Put their creative skills to good use when they celebrated Diwali, the ancient Hindu festival of lights, by creating their own clay tealight holders and lanterns.

Staff helped the children make and decorate their clay holders and paper lanterns which they took home at the end of the day.

The festival of Diwali signifies the victory of light over darkness, knowledge over ignorance and good over evil.

Nursery manager Jennie Gregory said: "It is important to us with children from so many diverse backgrounds that we celebrate the different festivals that are held throughout the year. "Diwali is one of the children's favourites as it encompasses so many fun and exciting things to do whilst conveying a story that they find very interesting. "We would have loved to light their lanterns and tealights at the nursery but it wouldn't have had the same effect in daylight, so we thought their families might like to join in the fun."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Charity's boxing fundraiser

SOME of the biggest names in British boxing are expected to attend a fundraising event at the Manor of Groves Hotel in High Wych on Monday.

The Legends of Boxing evening is organised by the Presidents Sporting Club to raise money to provide sporting facilities and opportunities for disabled children throughout Essex.

The charity's president, former world heavyweight champion Frank Bruno, will be joined by James Cooks, Jason Matthews, Billy Walker, Colin McMillan, Charlie Magri and John Stracey at the event.

During the evening there will be boxing action involving amateur clubs.

Adopt a horse for Christmas

AN animal rescue centre on the outskirts of Harlow is offering Christmas presents with a difference - the chance to adopt a horse, donkey or mule.

Redwings Horse Sanctuary at Broadley Common runs an adoption club which allows people who love horses but who are unable to keep one of their own to adopt one for £12.50 a year.

In return they will receive a certificate, updates and photographs of their animal as well as an invitation to a birthday party.

To celebrate Redwings' 30th anniversary, adoptions made before December 31 will also be offered a year's free access to an online diary which includes a blog, additional photos, videos and an interactive game.

All the money made through adopting an animal goes straight back to the charity. For more information, visit www.redwings.org.uk/adopting or call (01508) 4810000.

Car crashes into lamppost

POLICE arrested two young men following a road accident in Kingsland, Harlow on Saturday.

The incident happened shortly after 5.15pm when a garden wall and lamppost were struck by a black Vauxhall Astra.

Two men left the scene following the crash.

An 18-year-old man from Harlow was arrested on suspicion of failing to stop at the scene of an accident. He was later bailed pending further enquiries until November 19.

A 17-year-old from Harlow was also arrested but was released without charge after it was established he was not involved in the incident.

Funeral directors invest £160k in two new vehicles

A FIRM of funeral directors with a branch in Harlow has invested more than £160,000 in two new vehicles.

Daniel Robinson & Sons has taken delivery of a hearse and limousine to add to its existing fleet.

Both have been purpose-built and are fully air conditioned.

Funeral manager Derek Oakley said "We are delighted with the new vehicles as they represent a massive investment for a small company, costing around £85,000 per vehicle.

"We feel it enables us to deliver the highest standards to the families that we serve."

Model plane enthusiast to represent GB at world champs

A HIGH-flyer in the world of model planes is set to represent Great Britain at a major championships next year.

Ken Faux, 61, of Wychford Drive, Sawbridgeworth, first flew model planes for the country in 1975.

He has since competed all over the globe at various world and European championships, earning a number of team and individual accolades.

His best performance in a world event came in Spain in 1981, when he finished fifth. His best performance in a European competition was in Portugal in 1998, when his efforts saw him win a silver medal.

Flying model aircraft is a hobby Mr Faux began to pursue when he was a member of as group in Harlow at about the same time he finished his education at Mark Hall School.

"I've always really enjoyed the technical challenge," he said. "It is the time on the stopwatch that decides the result, not the opinion of any judge."

He is now preparing to compete at next year's world championships in Mongolia in the engine-assisted glider class.

The gliders, which can be built by enthusiasts or purchased for up to £2,000, are propelled vertically by an engine for five seconds. Automatic on board systems then readjust the aircraft to travel in slow circles and flights.

Competitors win by achieving the longest flight time.

Mr Faux, who has won European team gold medals in Italy, Portugal and Romania, is less interested in awards than when he first began flying model planes.

"It's been wonderful," he said. "I've met people from all corners of the globe and I compete more now to see friends."

He still competes today with John Williams, a fellow member of that group now living in Albury.

Mr Faux has lived in Sawbridgeworth with wife Joy, for 25 years. Flying model aircraft, is not his only hobby - he also enjoys music, photography and walking.

Police appeal to find tractor stolen from lock-up

POLICE are appealing for information following the theft of a tractor in Harlow.

The blue Iseki tractor was taken from a locked container in Parsloe Road between 11.30-11.45pm on Monday, September 29. It was driven away along a cycle track.

Anyone who witnessed the theft or who knows where the tractor is being kept is asked to contact PC Craig Till at Harlow police station on 101.

School's plan for new science labs approved

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ONE of Harlow's secondary schools has been given the green light to create new science laboratories, a multi-functioning room and a larger dining area.

Members of Harlow Council's development management committee were unanimous in their support for the building work at Stewards Academy, in Parnall Road, when they discussed the plans last Wednesday.

The school is built on designated green wedge land which is predominantly to the south of the building. The new two-storey extension will be built to the eastern side of the school.

Parking provision at the school was deemed more than sufficient by planning officers, who said there was more space than at other schools in town.

Pat Jenkins, business manager at Stewards Academy, said: "From the outset we were very keen to ensure the design was going to blend in as well as we could manage with the existing school. We are happy with the design.

"We have 10 teachers [for science] and eight classes in a year group, so it means there is an awful lot of shuffling around. Specialist lessons are not always taking place in specialist laboratories.

"We are not seeking to expand our numbers at this point in time, we just need this accommodation for the children we have got. We just need more space."

Councillor Jon Clempner told the meeting: "Anything that contributes to education provision in Harlow is good for me" while Councillor Jean Clark added: "The educational value [of the plans] is overwhelming.

"It is very good and they have tried hard to keep the design and make it compatible."

Full steam ahead for train enthusiasts on Oxford trip

TRAIN enthusiasts in Harlow will be able to take a trip back to the steam age in December.

The Cathedrals Express, hauled by two Black Five class steam locomotives, will be rolling into Harlow Town station on Thursday, December 11 for a day trip to Oxford.

After arriving in the City of Dreaming Spires passengers will have the opportunity to explore the historic city and do some Christmas shopping before making their way to the 12th century Christ Church Cathedral for a special carol service.

Marcus Robertson, chairman of trip operators Steam Dreams, said: "It's very unusual to be able to travel direct from Harlow Town to Oxford by train and the fact that we will be hauled not by one but two Black Five engines will add to the very special festive atmosphere on board.

"With a chance to also enjoy a carol service led by one of the world's top male voice choirs, in such an historic setting as Christ Church Cathedral will be a very special pre-Christmas treat for the whole family."

The carriages will be decorated for the festive season and all passengers will be served mulled wine and mince pies.

The train will depart from Harlow at 10am and arrive back at 20.50pm. Prices range from £99-£239.

For more information or to book places call (01483) 209888 or visit www.cathedralsexpress.co.uk.

BUSINESS NEWS

American burger joint Five Guys proves popular

AMERICAN burger bar Five Guys has opened in Harlow and is already receiving rave reviews from fast food lovers.

Five Guys was founded in 1986 and now has more than 1,000 sites, with fans including US President Barack Obama.

The fast food restaurant opened at the Water Gardens last week and social media was awash with people looking forward to trying it out.

"So excited that five guys opened today in Harlow," said @LucyThomas while @Louiza_9 said: "#FiveGuys in #Harlow...time to check it out!!!"

The first Five Guys opened in Virginia, USA in 1986. Originally a family business – the name represents the five Murrell brothers who run it – the company began offering franchise opportunities in the USA in 2003.

They sold more than 300 units in just 18 months. There are now more than 1,000 locations across the world with a further 1,500 in development.

The first UK restaurant launched in Covent Garden in July last year, with branches in Reading and Islington opening soon after. More branches are scheduled to open in the coming months.

Since its UK launch 15 months ago the popular burger joint has gained a cult-like following in the UK for its simple high quality burgers.

John Eckbert, UK chief executive of Five Guys,

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

told the Star: "One thing that hasn't changed is the Murrell family's dedication to delivering the best quality burgers in town."

"From locally sourced meat and cheese, to where its bacon and potatoes come from, and the brand of ketchup, cooking methods, absence of frozen food, oil types and temperatures - the focus is always on freshness and quality over quantity."

The Harlow restaurant employs 35 people and has proved popular with residents. The layout has even changed to help cope with the increasing demand.

Mr Eckbert said: "We've very interested in growing across the UK. What's great about Harlow is there are a lot of families and that's really important to us."

There are more than 250,000 possible ways to order a burger at Five Guys and the firm only fresh roll stamped Irish prime beef.

There are no freezers in Five Guys locations - just coolers - so nothing is ever frozen. Fries are handcut each day and fried in peanut oil.

And Mr Eckbert's favourite combination? A little bacon cheeseburger served with lettuce, tomato, barbecue sauce and jalapenos.

Fewer out of work as more take up apprenticeships

PRIME Minister David Cameron congratulated Harlow MP Robert Halfon on the fall in unemployment in Harlow.

Speaking in Prime Ministers Questions, Mr Halfon asked: "Is my right honourable friend aware that in the past couple of years youth unemployment in Harlow has gone down by 53 per cent, general unemployment has gone down by 43 per cent, and apprenticeships have increased by 82 per cent."

Mr Cameron replied: "First of all I'd like to congratulate my honourable friend on all the work he does locally to help promote jobs, to help promote apprenticeships, and to promote training."

"He is absolutely right - a 56 per cent decline in unemployment in his constituency."

Figures released this week show that the Jobseekers Allowance claimant rate in Harlow is now just 3.1 per cent, with unemployment having fallen by 56 per cent and youth unemployment falling by 42.9 per cent.

But, Harlow's Labour parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride said the figures did not reflect the "real experience" of people in Harlow.

"While Robert Halfon and David Cameron congratulate each other on how well they are doing on the economy, the real experience of people in Harlow isn't so rosy," she said.

"Figures from the independent Office of Budget Responsibility show the Government will make less than they expect in tax this year, because of the growth in low paid work."

"Lord Freud the welfare minister, might not think some people deserve the minimum wage but Labour will continue to push for better skills and better paid jobs in Harlow and in our country."

Keepers welcome two new arrivals

ZOO keepers in Serbia are taking on the challenge of bottlefeeding a pair of three-week old rare white lion cubs.

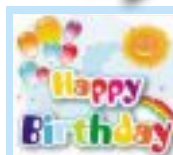

The young cubs were rejected by their mother after they were born at Belgrade Zoo. They need regular feeds throughout the day and night.

The cubs were unveiled last week after zoo officials kept their birth a secret so they could be sure they were healthy and happy. In the past a number of cubs have died at an early age.

Zookeeper Nadezda Radovic, who is one of the members of staff looking after the cubs, said they would not be staying at the zoo for long.

"We will probably trade them for some other animals as part of our exchange programme," she told reporters. "We already have a list of zoos who want the cubs and in return we'll try to acquire other animals."

Belgrade Zoo is currently home to 10 white lions.

Craig's devilish designs are perfect on pumpkins

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

FOR most of the year Craig Childs is kept busy with process checklists in his job as compliance manager at the Church Langley branch of Tesco.

But for one day this week he swapped his normal routine to take on the role of chief pumpkin carver at the store.

After Craig's colleagues spotted his hidden talents for carving intricate pumpkin designs on Twitter, Tesco bosses invited him to carve devilish designs for customers in the store as part of a Halloween activity across 50 of its branches.

"I've always been quite creative, but I haven't pursued anything art-related since I left school," said Craig, who has worked for the company for 17 years.

"Three years ago I carved a pumpkin for a friend's daughter using a design I found online and it all took off from there.

"Since then it's become quite a passion of mine and I can find myself carving up to 12 designs a day - everything from traditional Halloween designs, to scenes from Disney's Frozen. The walk in the woods design I completed this week was the toughest so far as it was particularly detailed and required a lot of time and patience."

Yesterday (Wednesday) he was kept busy showing customers his skills.

"I was thrilled to be named chief pumpkin carver for the day," he said. "It made a change to job swap and carve in public as I usually work on my designs from the comfort of my living room."

Steve Lewis, manager of the Church Langley store, said: "We're so impressed by Craig's talents and we thought it'd be a shame not to share his creepy craft. We know our customers love celebrating Halloween and our in store carving masterclass helped customers get in the spirit this year."

Craig's tops tips for the perfect pumpkin

Planning: Research the design you want to create first and then choose your pumpkin. Think about the size you need, the depth of colour and whether you want a wrinkled or smooth surface.

Little by little: It's easy to get a little 'scalpel happy' with pumpkins and you can easily make a mistake. Always carve a little at a time. It's much easier to scoop out more of the flesh or to shave a little more of the skin off than it is to correct a mistake if you go too far.

Approach it differently: Traditional designs tend to cut out large chunks of the pumpkin flesh so you can see right through, but some of my most popular designs have been shaved into the outside skin. You can create a better depth of image and candle light can still shine through if you carve out some of the flesh from the inside.

Police warning over Halloween 'pranks'

POLICE have warned they will be taking a "firm approach" to incidents of anti-social behaviour by Halloween revellers.

Urging young people to stay safe and respect others, the Essex force says officers will be doing all they can to ensure Halloween is enjoyed by everyone.

"We understand that children and young people find this time of year exciting and fun," said Inspector Paul Seabright. "However, many members of the community find Halloween and Bonfire Night very stressful.

"It's important that all of us consider the feelings and needs of the most vulnerable in our towns and villages. What might seem like fun and being mischievous to young people can be frightening for others.

"Halloween can be an unsettling time for many people, especially elderly people and those who live alone, so we will be taking a firm approach to those who cause problems for others."

He added: "The throwing of items at houses or playing practical jokes on neighbours who are not known to you or have not agreed to participate in trick or treat is unacceptable and in many cases may be criminal in nature.

"If you decide to go trick or treating please take care and think carefully about which doors you knock on, particularly if you know there are elderly people living in the area. Where possible, prearrange visits to neighbours and friends."

Anyone who feels concerned about anti-social behaviour during the evening is advised to call police on 101.

Laugh-a-minute with November show at Harlow Comedy Club

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE venue has changed but the entertainment will be the same - giggles, cackles and plenty of belly laughs.

The Harlow Comedy Club was originally based at The Churchgate Hotel in Old Harlow but following its sudden closure last month the man in charge - Paul Wade - was forced to find an alternative location.

"The hotel closed the day after our show with Patrick Monohan," said Paul. "We were just getting some momentum going when [the hotel] folded. It's a shame as it was a cornerstone of Harlow and had great performance space."

"Hopefully we can keep the momentum going with The Square. They've been really good, keen to take the shows on and extremely supportive which is key."

The next HCC show will see performances by James Dowdeswell, Markus Birdman (pictured right) and Mark Simmons.

James has appeared on Russell Howard's Good News on BBC3 as well as Celebrity Deal or No Deal with Jimmy Carr on Channel 4. He's no stranger to the small screen or to the comedy circuit and it's his daft storytelling that gets crowds laughing.

Markus is another comedy stalwart when it comes to radio and television.

Described as "uniquely talented" by the Evening Standard and "wonderful, extremely versatile" by The Scotsman, audiences are promised easy laughs from this talented comic.

Mark was named joint runner-up at last year's Leicester Mercury Comedian of the Year awards. His charm and penchant for witty one-liners make him a stand-up favourite.

Paul, a comedian himself, started HCC with the aim of bringing "fantastic comedians" to Harlow.

"It gives me a chance to work with some incredibly talented performers and learn from them and improve my own performance," he said.

"It's a cheap night out and something different to do on a week night. At £10 I think it's good value, especially as we always have really solid acts."

Speaking about this month's show, Paul said: "As with all the shows I only look to use acts that I know, trust and respect. I don't think we've had a bad show so far because I've used that policy, so it seems to be working."

"We've got Markus Birdman who in my opinion is simply fantastic. Markus was one of the first I approached about doing the club but the dates up until now have clashed. I'm absolutely thrilled that we've finally been able to get him."

"Mark Simmons is also doing great things. He supported Seann Walsh and a few of his tour dates last year and James Dowdeswell is just brilliant."

>> Harlow Comedy Club's November line-up will be at The Square on Wednesday, November 12. Both shows start at 8pm (doors open at 7pm) and tickets are £10. Advance tickets are available from The Square on (01279) 305000 or online at www.wegotickets.com.

the playhouse

Playhouse Square, Harlow

HALLOWEEN It's fright night time at The Playhouse as Pitch Black challenges scare junkies to enter Porky's Pie Factory. This live action horror maze is guaranteed to have you screaming in terror as you navigate the darkness with just the aid of a glowstick. Suitable for the over 14s, Pitch Black has been designed and created by Tom Swift, winner of three Scare Awards and promises to be one of the most thrilling Halloween experiences available in the UK this year. The experience runs until Friday and tickets cost £4. For ticket availability and times, visit the website at www.playhouseharlow.com. For younger people the theatre is staging Tully the Troll's Spooktacular Treasure Hunt (ages 4-7) and The Scarehouse NERF (ages 7-13).

MUSICAL Rare Productions present Bugsy Malone, the musical spoof very loosely based on events in Chicago during the Prohibition era. The show follows the rivalry between two street gangs and a washed up but well-meaning boxer, Bugsy Malone, who ends up taking control of Fat Sam's mob and helps defeat Dandy Dan and his gang. The show opens tonight (Thursday) and runs until Saturday. Tickets cost £11-£16 and performance start nightly at 7.30pm with a 2.30pm matinee show on Saturday.

BALLET Harlow Ballet Association reverts to the more classical form of dance for their autumn gala with dances from popular ballets including Swan Lake and other 19th century masterpieces. There will also be a preview of some of the dances from the full-length work chosen to be HBA's next major production as well as a new and completely original version of Michael Branwell's traditional Czech Polka. The mix will be completed by the ever-popular annual choreographic competition for the Anthony Osborne Shield. There will be two performances in the Studio on Saturday starting at 3pm and 7pm, with ticket prices ranging from £8-£12.

MAGIC The popularity of magic and illusion has never been stronger thanks to television shows by the likes of Dynamo, Derren Brown and David Copperfield. Now there's a chance to see magic performed live on stage in Wow! This Show Is Magic starring father and son team Doctor Bondini and Jez0. Sunday's show starts at 2.30pm and tickets cost £12-£14.

DRAMA An ageing and glamorous icon is held captive in a darkened room with only a shadowy male figure for company in Helen, an exciting, epic and contemporary production inspired by the myth of Helen of Troy and staged by international company aod, which this year celebrates its 21st anniversary. There are two performances - next Thursday (November 6) at 1.30m and Friday at 7.30pm - and tickets cost £14.

victoria hall

Bury Road, Old Harlow

COMEDY Swinging bachelor Bernard couldn't be happier with a flat in Paris and three gorgeous air stewardesses all engaged to him without knowing about each other, in French playwright Marc Camoletti's comedy Boeing-Boeing. But Bernard's perfect life becomes turbulent when his friend Robert comes to stay and a new and speedier Boeing jet throws off all of his careful planning. Soon all three stewardesses are in town simultaneously and Robert is forgetting which lies to tell to whom. The show, which opened last night, runs until Saturday. Tickets cost £11 (£9 concessions); visit www.ticketsource.co.uk/harlowtheatre company or call 03336 663366 for details or to book.

JAZZ John Petters presents another night of jazz with Brian White, Alan Gresty, Dave Browning and Keith Donald. The performance starts at 8pm and tickets are £10 on the door.

the gallery

Parndon Mill, Harlow

ART Glasshaus IX presents works of art in glass by both distinguished artists and newcomers. This year's exhibition features a group of artists connected with the National Glass Centre in Sunderland, including Katya Izabel, Emma Baker, Stephanie da Silva, Amber King, James Maskrey and Phil Vickery. The exhibition runs until Sunday.

Band go back to where it all began for EP launch

AFTER almost two years spent recording, rock band The Kazans returned to Harlow and the venue where they played their first live gig for the release of their new EP.

The four-piece, who made their debut at The Square back in 2006, chose the Fourth Avenue venue for the launch of six-track EP Them Girls.

The band comprises Tom Ryder on vocals and guitar, Joe Hazell on vocals and lead guitar, Tom Casson on vocals and George Sydes on drums. They formed eight years ago while studying at Bishop's Stortford High School.

Tom (Ryder) said: "The Square was the perfect place to launch our EP, having played our first gig there."

"Barry Knight, our original manager who spotted Joe and I at the Half Moon acoustic club in Bishop's Stortford arranged that first gig so it was really fitting that he was able to be there on Saturday and see how we have developed."

"The night exceeded all our expectations. The turnout was exceptional; Steve the sound man was excellent, as were all the staff."

He added: "The Square is one of the best venues for miles around. The sound you get in there is outstanding and the atmosphere is electric when you get a few people in there."

"We have played a few well known venues in London including The Water Rats, O2 Academy Islington, Amersham Arms and Proud Camden, but for us The Square trumps them all."

Also performing on Saturday were Ashley Johnston, The Only Braves and De-Railed. "We'd like to thank our support acts who were all really well-suited to each other and the night flowed very well," said Tom. "We were delighted to attract such high quality acts and by the time we came on the place was packed."

The Kazans recorded two of the songs on Them Girls at Play! Studios in Soho, with the remaining four recorded at Woodbury Recording Studio near Harlow.

"We are writing all the time and have plenty of material at our disposal so I wouldn't rule out another release in the not too distant future," Tom said. "But for now we are immensely proud of Them Girls and are intent on getting as many people as possible to hear it."

>> Them Girls is available to download from iTunes, Copies will also be on sale at The Kazans' shows.

Ghoulish greenery hiding in the garden

YOU may be opening your front door to mischievous trick or treaters in ghoulish guises this Halloween, but peep into your back garden and you could also spot some stinking, spiky and poisonous subjects.

While would-be wizards and witches may be taunting you on your doorstep, in your garden you may experience something equally sinister. Some plants can sting, burn, cut you or emit an acrid, foul-smelling odour.

Among the most prickly of plants is the hawthorn. As a thorny hedge it will deter even the most persistent burglar. The thorns of mature plants can pierce the toughest glove and I've often had to pick them out of my thick gardening clogs to stop them from pricking my toes.

It features among the Metropolitan Police list of top shrubs for deterring thieves. Other prickly candidates include creeping juniper, common holly, firethorn (pyracantha), juniper and purple berberis. The Met advises people to plant hedges of such unfriendly shrubs to use nature's own defence mechanisms and keep out burglars.

Then there are the plants which don't smell quite as sweet as you'd like. In fact they stink. Take the titan arum (Amorphophallus titanum) and the dragon arum (Dracunculus vulgaris) – both smell like rotting corpses when in flower to attract pollinating flies.

The titan arum, also known as the 'corpse flower' for obvious reasons, is nevertheless beautiful, growing to 3m tall. Its gigantic crimson flower spans 3m and is a great magnet for pollinating insects but you won't find it in the average British garden as it prefers the rainforests of Sumatra as its natural habitat. However, you can admire it in the exotic sections of botanical gardens such as the Eden Project in Cornwall and at Kew.

Then there's stinking iris – Iris foetidissima – whose leaves have a pungent scent but which comes into its own visually in autumn and winter, putting on a spectacular display when its huge seed pods burst open to reveal brilliant orange, sometimes red, seeds. They cling to the pods throughout the winter until the spring and are ignored by birds.

Others in the bad smells league include the pineapple lily (Eucomis bicolor) and the dead horse arum (Helicodiceros muscivorus), named for obvious reasons.

While many bulbs bring heady fragrance to spring including the sweetly scented hyacinth, others have pretty horrible odours including the imposing crown imperial (Fritillaria imperialis). But don't let the smell put you off because its impressive orange flowers make more of a statement than its whiffy pong.

No Halloween would be complete without its share of witches, whose potions have been linked with some of our most common plants.

Hemlock, for instance, is highly poisonous and closely linked with witchcraft. It doesn't look significantly different from the hedge parsley or cow parsley which grows along roads, ditches, trails, or the edges of fields.

Its white flowerheads resemble those of parsnips, carrots or angelica, while the bright green leaves are deeply-cut, even feathery and delicate. Yet all plant parts are poisonous, with the seeds containing the highest concentration of poison, causing toxic reactions.

Deadly nightshade (Belladonna), another common plant often found in hedgerows, was one of the main ingredients in witches' brews during the Middle Ages, while blackthorn is often referred to as a witch's tree. As late as the 1940s, anyone seen to carry a blackthorn walking stick was suspected of being a witch.

There is beauty in all, even the most sinister of subjects. So have a happy Halloween – but just remember the plants with slightly darker properties, hidden in the nooks and crannies of your garden.

Things to do in the week ahead

:: Start to pick Brussels sprouts and sprouting broccoli

:: Continue to plant garlic to give it a head start for next year

:: Remove dead growth from ponds, as aquatic plants die back now anyway

:: Prune asparagus, cutting the stems off at ground level to make way for next year's crop

:: If fairy rings have appeared on your lawn, remove the fungus, spike, water and feed any dead areas of grass that they cause

:: Sow sweet peas in pots in the greenhouse, to give you early flowers next year

:: Wipe shading paint off the greenhouse windows to allow as much light in as possible

:: Fill any gaps with perennials, while the soil is still soft enough to dig

:: Give beds a good weed, to give you a head start and prevent so many bursting into life next spring

:: If chrysanthemums have finished flowering, dry them off, cut them back and keep them in a frost-free place indoors, ready for spring planting

Coleman cuts the mustard

IT'S been a year since she won MasterChef but life is still throwing up surprises for Natalie Coleman.

There was the MasterChef: The Finalists cookbook which she co-wrote with runners-up Dale Williams and Larkin Cen, some very exciting work placements in the kitchens of celebrity chefs Tom Kerridge, Michel Roux Jr and Marcus Wareing, and the hours she passed chewing the fat with childhood hero Ade Edmondson, who won Celebrity MasterChef last year.

"Jennifer Saunders tweeted me because I was going up to the BBC Good Food Show and Ade was going to be there," she recalls, laughing as she admits she "screamed" with joy when the comedienne followed her on Twitter.

"I spent a whole day with Ade," says Natalie. We were just geeking off about cooking and talking about recipes and gadgets. That was crazy."

She received another pinch-me moment a few days after scooping the coveted MasterChef winner title which she earned with her highly-praised pork belly and Scotch egg dish.

"I had a tweet from Nigella," says the 31-year-old former credit controller, referring to her long-time food idol Nigella Lawson. "It was something like 'Just back from Brazil... so happy my girl Natalie Coleman won'. It was about 11pm on a Friday but I called everyone, didn't I? I was so happy."

Natalie jokes that she'll be putting her newfound status to good use to help her with a meal she's included in her new cookbook, Winning Recipes For Every Day. In it she offers up her late Nan's corned beef hash pie as a tribute to the "brilliant cook" who often whizzed up cakes and treats for her granddaughter.

"The thing is, my Nan died when I was 16 and no-one knows her recipe. She literally took it to the grave with her. I spoke to Nan's sister because the pie's a northern thing and she lives up in Sunderland. The Hairy Bikers would probably know what the recipe is because they're from around there. They'd know."

Even without the help of the two cheerful bikers, a bit of cooking intuition and a few tweaks to the seasoning meant Natalie eventually served up a version of the pie that got a big thumbs-up from her family.

On a similar note, she hopes her recipes will inspire home cooks to experiment in the kitchen.

"I don't like picking up cookbooks that you can't use," explains Natalie, who rates Lawson, Delia Smith, Jamie Oliver and the recipe database on the BBC Good Food website. "I used to follow recipes to a T but then you get more confident which is what I want people to do with my book."

She finds the thought of her cookbook sitting on shelves alongside the Smiths, Olivers and Lawsons mind-bending.

"It's mad really, isn't it? Even looking at the copies of my book, it doesn't feel like it's all real yet," she says.

"It's all a bit hard to take in. It is a bit overwhelming... it really does open up so many doors, that competition."

BUTTERNUT SQUASH MASCARPONE TART (serves 6-8)

1 medium butternut squash, peeled and chopped into 1-2cm chunks (chopped weight 650g)
Leaves from 1 rosemary sprig
1tbsp olive oil, plus extra for drizzling
25g butter
One-and-a-half large red onions, sliced
1tbsp caster sugar
4-5tbsp balsamic vinegar
1 x 375g sheet of ready-rolled puff pastry
2tbsp pine nuts
4-5tbsp mascarpone cheese
1 red chilli, finely sliced, or 1/2tsp dried chilli flakes (optional)
1 egg, beaten, for glazing
Handful of rocket leaves, to garnish

Preheat the oven to 220C/200C fan/gas mark 7. Place the butternut squash in a baking tray and sprinkle with the rosemary leaves. Drizzle with a good glug of olive oil and season with salt. Bake in the oven for 20-25 minutes until the butternut squash is tender.

Meanwhile, in a frying pan set on a low heat warm the tablespoon of olive oil and melt the butter. Add the onions, sugar and four tablespoons of balsamic vinegar, and season well with salt and pepper. Cook gently for 20-25 minutes until the onions are softened and caramelised. Taste the onions while cooking, as you may need to add the extra spoonful of vinegar.

Just before the butternut squash and onions are ready, unroll the pastry onto a large baking sheet and score a border around the pastry, about 1.5cm from the edge, like a picture frame. Using a fork, prick all over the pastry inside the 'frame'.

When the squash and onions are ready, remove the onions from the pan using a slotted spoon to ensure that any excess oil is left behind. Spread the onions evenly over the centre of the pastry (staying within the border), scatter with the squash, sprinkle on the pine nuts and dollop the mascarpone on top. Season with a little more salt and a good grinding of pepper. Sprinkle with the chopped red chilli or chilli flakes, if using. Brush the border with beaten egg, so you get a nice shine on the pastry.

:: Winning Recipes For Every Day by Natalie Coleman is published in hardback by Quercus, priced £20.

NIGHTCRAWLER (15, 117 mins)

Shining a light on seedy side of TV news

SET on the mean streets of modern day Los Angeles, Dan Gilroy's directorial debut is a delicious and twisted media satire starring Jake Gyllenhaal as a ghoulish loner who exploits human misery for personal gain.

Gyllenhaal, who has shed a significant amount of weight to portray an emaciated social limpet who lives by the mantra that good things come to those who work hard, gives a tour-de-force performance.

In the case of the nightcrawler the 'work' involves monitoring a police scanner, racing to crime scenes and capturing gruesome footage of critically injured victims on a handheld camera to sell to TV news stations hungry for raw footage of real-life crime.

Louis Bloom (Gyllenhaal) is a product of base human desires and, like a vampire, he feeds off them with ghoulish glee. When the film opens he's struggling to find direction in life until he pulls over on a highway close to a fatal accident and meets cameraman Joe Loder (Bill Paxton).

"If it bleeds, it leads," cackles Joe, who sells his footage to the highest bidder.

Louis purchases a small camera and approaches Nina Romina (Rene Russo), editor of the graveyard shift at one news station, with amateurish footage of a victim fighting for life. She pays up and tells him her perfect newscast is a screaming woman running down the street with her throat cut.

Taking her words to heart, Louis hires an inexperienced protege called Rick (Riz Ahmed) to capture gangland shootings, murder and misfortune in grisly close-up. At first, Rick recoils in disgust but inexorably, Louis moulds his employee in his own warped image.

Nightcrawler is an audacious debut from director Dan Gilroy that captures Los Angeles at its most grimy.

Gyllenhaal distorts his screen

image as a charming, buff leading man beyond recognition, slithering through each frame like a predator in search of the next kill while Russo is luminous in a meaty supporting role and London-born actor Ahmed captures the right mix of naivete and nervousness as a fellow passenger on this sickening descent into the abyss.

Gilroy's lean script doesn't shy away from the despicable and morally repugnant actions of the bloodthirsty anti-hero, nor does it forget to remind us that we are culpable for devouring this graphic news footage.

HORNS (15, 120mins)

DANIEL Radcliffe gives one his best screen performances as Ig Perrish, who only has eyes for neighbour Merrin Williams (Juno Temple).

Their romance blossoms in childhood when they play together as part of a gang with Ig's older brother Terry (Joe Anderson) and good friend Lee (Max Minghella).

But on the day Ig is poised to ask for Merrin's hand in marriage, she orchestrates a very public break-up in a diner.

The following morning police discover her lifeless body below her favourite treehouse in the forest and a dishevelled Ig in his car with no memory of the night before.

After a night of excessive booze - a pitiful attempt to salve his grief - Ig regains consciousness with a raging hangover and discovers that he has a pair of horns growing out of his head.

The devilish outcrops compel locals to confess their sins and Ig realises he can exploit his new-found powers of persuasion to uncover the circumstances of Merrin's death and unmask a murderer. BISHOP'S STORTFORD EMPIRE Today 20.50 Friday & Saturday 16.40/19.20/22.00 Sunday-Thursday 17.30/20.20

OUIJA (15, 89mins)

A GROUP of friends dabble with dark forces beyond their comprehension and suffer the dire consequences in Stiles White's spooky horror.

When high school student Debbie (Shelley Hennig) hangs herself her classmates struggle to make sense of her suicide.

Best friend Laine (Olivia Cooke) decides to make contact with Debbie using a ouija board. A small circle including Laine's boyfriend Pete (Douglas Smith) and gal pal Isabelle (Bianca A Santos) use the board to speak to Debbie and say their tearful farewells. Unfortunately, the friends unwittingly unleash a malevolent force that targets them one by one.

As the body count rises, Laine tries to banish the evil spirit and a trail of clues leads to Paulina (Lin Shaye), a patient in a psychiatric ward.

We look forward to welcoming you to the John Barleycorn in the near future.

Festive menus, booking forms and directions are also available on our website

BOOK EARLY FOR Christmas

ALTHOUGH they're usually great fun to attend, the office Christmas party can be a daunting prospect if you're responsible for organising it. This seemingly thankless task is often dumped on people with little warning and ensuring it will be an event that all of your colleagues will enjoy can make it a stressful ordeal that many of us will do their utmost to avoid.

If you've been given the task, there are plenty of ways to ensure it runs smoothly and to ensure you deliver a Christmas cracker of a party!

Firstly, if your company is large enough, try and share the load and make sure you get a committee of others involved. Secondly, it's never too early to start planning. Organisation is key and you can be sure that no matter how far away December 25 might seem, there will always be someone who has already started planning their own event. Start as early as you possibly can and the better chance you have of securing your preferred venue and entertainment.

The size of your budget will ultimately impact on the type of Christmas party you organize. Find out how much money you have to spend and allocate the budget by what is most important to your group.

Decide on the type of party you want. Are you considering a visit to the pub, just a meal, a drinks/cocktail party or something totally different? Lunch or dinner? Joint party or exclusive party? Additional entertainment such as a live band or comedian? Shared parties keep the budget down, a private dinner in a restaurant is ideal for groups of up to 20 people and hiring a venue is a good option for larger groups who want control over every aspect of the party.

Locally we have a wide choice of venues which can cater for a variety of events. From large shared parties to smaller, more intimate dinners, this is the place to start planning your Christmas party.

Your stars with Patrick Arundell

to guide you through the week ahead

Aries 21 March - 20 April
Although you may be in the mood for fun, the week ahead brims with things that could lead you on something of a merry dance. Why? Well, you could have things to accomplish, but emotional issues might vie for your attention too. A reduced schedule on Thursday, at the time of the Full Moon, might help you keep calm and stay on top of things. Call me for your in-depth forecast...

Libra 24 September - 23 October
It may be time to take a look at your natural abilities or hobbies and consider whether any of them could be useful. It's possible you might earn extra cash or get a better job by using a talent that's lain dormant for a while. Later, the Full Moon in Taurus, could encourage you to splurge on a few small, yet well deserved luxuries. Call me now for your financial forecast in full...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May
Is your partner, or someone else, set to try and push you into following their lead against your better judgment? Tensions may escalate this week, with a Full Moon in your sign bringing things to a head. However, Mercury's move into Scorpio on Saturday can pave the way for healing and some rather enlightening conversations. Call your prediction line for more news and advice...

Scorpio 24 October - 22 November
It looks like a busy week for you Scorpio, with a focus on personal projects and self-expression. In addition, the developing Full Moon reaches its luminous peak on Thursday. As a result, relationships could get rocky if feelings spill over, so do try to choose your words carefully, particularly if you're passionate about something or someone. Call for more astral advice...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
Expect a little pressure at work, or to be busier than usual when it comes to everyday tasks and chores. This week's backdrop suggests it's a good time to pare down your routines, removing activities that waste time and serve no real purpose. By way of a contrast, the weekend brings much greater potential for fun and relaxation. Call now for more news and astral advice...

Sagittarius 23 November - 21 December
Despite loving action and adventure, you may feel like taking time out to think about your priorities and future goals. The week ahead seems to involve a need for introspection, particularly around midweek when a certain issue might require extra attention. Yet, a fresh perspective could offer reassurance. Call your prediction line for more news and advice...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
Romantic opportunities sizzle this week, as a lively line-up makes for a very sociable few days ahead. Feelings flow and your sensitivity to others may increase, encouraging you to be open and honest with family and friends. However, don't get too carried away, as there could be certain things which are actually best left unsaid. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Capricorn 22 December - 20 January
Attending social events brings lively opportunities to connect with an important group of people. Whether you're looking for business or plenty of fun, the week ahead supplies a range of options. Later, a surge of feeling could entice a romantic liaison to develop in strength and passion - or bring inspiration for a creative project. Call now for your love scope in full...

Leo 24 July - 23 August
Though there is a good possibility that you will be in a playful mood, you need to be conscious of responsibilities that need urgent attention. Some of these may be less than exciting, and might even involve an element of discomfort. Still, tackling these should leave you with a sense of accomplishment and more than enough time to focus on more engaging projects. Call for more...

Aquarius 21 January - 19 February
Your focus is likely to be on pushing ahead with goals and ambitions, and in an efficient way as possible. In this regard, a Sun Pluto link early on may coincide with a decision that makes a positive difference. Meanwhile, Thursday's Full Moon puts the focus on home affairs, and is excellent for a party or celebration with friends and family. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Virgo 24 August - 23 September
Is a plan or idea taking up a lot of your time or resources? This week, decisions may need to be made, and feelings of pressure acknowledged. Be especially careful around the time of the lunation on Thursday, when a conversation could put you on edge. However, if this can wait until the weekend, you might find yourself having a more fruitful discussion. Call for more...

Pisces 20 February - 20 March
Experiences that involve radical change may really draw you Pisces. Whether this means going on a course, travelling or adopting a new belief system. Deep down you might feel it's time to throw off the old and embrace something new and refreshing. However, you could find it hard to abandon some of your more comforting and most loved habits. Call for more news and advice...

Spacious chalet-style property located close to the town centre

coverproperty

Location Bullfields, SawbridgeworthCategory Semi-detachedAdditional Six bedrooms, large kitchen/breakfast room, partially converted garage, brick outbuildingGuide price £399,995Agent Mackays Property Agents, 25 Bell Street, Sawbridgeworth. Telephone (01279) 600567

LOCATED at Bullfields in Sawbridgeworth close to the town centre and train station, this versatile home has come on to the market with no onward chain.

This spacious, semi-detached chalet-style home is tucked away, with access over a gravel drive which also serves a small number of other residential properties.

Accommodation on the ground floor consists of a large kitchen/breakfast room with space for a range-style cooker, fridge/freezer, washing machine and dishwasher. There is also a large sitting/dining room with a brick-built fireplace.

On the first floor there are four double bedrooms and a family bathroom with free-standing bath and a shower room. The current owners are using the first floor as separate living accommodation with the space divided up into a living room, two bedrooms and a shower room.

The garage has been partially converted to include a utility area and workshop.

To the rear of the property there is a large east-facing garden. A terrace leads on to a spacious area of lawn, which is bordered by a range of established trees and shrubs.

In the corner of the garden there is a large brick-built outbuilding which is divided into two separate rooms. The garden is accessible from the workshop, sitting room and kitchen/breakfast room.

For full details or to arrange a viewing, contact Mackays Property Agents on (01279) 600567.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

WHETHER you have school-age children or not, primary schools can affect the price of your home.

We've all heard tales of the lengths some people will go to to get their children into the 'right' school so it's no surprise that demand for housing in the good catchment areas are so high. That increased demand pushes up prices – the better the school, the higher they go.

Nationwide has carried out some research to calculate the premiums we pay for living near good primary schools.

Primary school catchment areas tend to be relatively small and so Nationwide easily isolated which houses were in the right places and compared their prices with primary school performance tables. They found that, for every 10 per cent increase in the SATs pass rate for 11-year-olds, the average house increased in value by 3.3 per cent or £7,450.

In the north, the premium was as high as 4.5 per cent. London attracted the least premium, maybe because there were more choices available or perhaps because there were other key price influences involved such as proximity to transport links etc.

However, the largest premium belongs to houses in the catchment areas of the best performing schools – the top 2.4 per cent of primaries in England with a 100 per cent attainment rate (at Level 4) in the latest SATs. These properties can command an 11 per cent premium over an identical property located near a school in the bottom 25 per cent.

So how does this compare to the uplift in value provided by the more traditional home improvements? The research showed it adds more than an extra bathroom (+1.3 per cent) and nearly as much as a 10 per cent increase in the floor area (+4.8 per cent). However, if you are looking for maximum added value, an extra bedroom (+11.4 per cent) or a loft conversion (+20.3 per cent) remain at the top.

Period cottage for £290,000

Located in Old Harlow's High Street and within easy walking distance of the shops and station, this pretty period cottage has been modernised and thoughtfully designed with an open plan layout.

The three-bedroom home has three floors with made-to-measure furniture throughout and real oak floors and doors.

There is a parking space at the front and a neatly enclosed courtyard garden at the rear.

This property is available with no onward chain through Geoffrey Matthews Estates on (01279) 444988.

On the market for £329,950

This substantial townhouse is at Malkin Drive in the Church Langley area of Harlow.

There is a ground floor cloakroom, large kitchen/dining room and a living room.

The main bedroom is on the first floor and has an en suite shower. There are a further four bedrooms on the top floor.

A third of the garden is wooden decking and the rest is lawn with trees behind fences. There is also an integral garage.

Call Centurion on (01279) 417234 for full details.

Available to rent for £1,100pcm

This semi-detached home situated in Longacre, within the sought-after Old Harlow area, is available now to rent.

The property has three bedrooms and two reception rooms as well as a fitted kitchen and ground floor cloakroom.

There are two parking spaces outside and the location is just half-a-mile from Harlow Mill train station.

For full details or to arrange a viewing, contact Future Let on (01279) 451317.

Four-bedroom detached for £749,950

This spacious four-bedroom detached family home in Old Road, Old Harlow, is presented to a very high standard.

There are three reception rooms, a generous kitchen/breakfast room, utility room and conservatory. Two of the bedrooms have en suite facilities. Built about 10 years ago, this property forms a very small and exclusive development of just two homes, sharing a long gravel driveway set back from the main road.

'A Move by Christmas?'

Many people whose property is on the market now would ideally like to move by Christmas, yet only those who are prepared to price realistically to reflect the current market are likely to be successful.

Buyers who are currently active in the market are now getting increasingly keen to move before the end of the year and we have recently noticed a significant ramping-up of activity.

Despite this increase in activity, your choice of agent is paramount as too many agents are currently making rash promises. If you are selling, beware of the agent who tries to flatter you with promises of an inflated price, or entices you with a commission rate so low (sometimes with hidden charges) that they cannot provide a decent level of service or train their staff effectively.

Whilst the market is in fact quite stable, buyers do have a choice. Buyers buy by comparison, and they will always buy the property that offers them the best value in relation to alternatives available nearby.

So don't fall into the trap of assuming that because your property is slightly wider than the one on the market next door, or because it has better views or a bigger garden, that you should quote a higher asking price. By doing so, your price offsets these benefits. Likewise, if your house is similar to next door, then you should undercut their price if you are to achieve an early sale.

So if you'd like to sell this year, the rule of thumb for this market is to choose a strong, independent, locally-based agent, listen to their advice, and quote a competitive asking price. With the wind behind you, you might just be in your new home by Christmas. Please feel free to call us for a confidential no-obligation chat.

Billy

Ex marks the spot

■ IAIN DOOLEY

This is more of a case of what isn't new because the NX is fresh off the drawing board as a little brother to the much-respected RX.

If the RX 400h hybrid was the father of socially-acceptable SUVs, the NX 300h is a not-so-distant cousin.

Looks and image

The styling is as sharp as a supermodel's face and you'll probably either love it or hate it.

That's what Lexus wants because you can't please everybody and it's better to please some people a lot than fade into the background.

The NX is no shrinking violet as long as you avoid silver. There's a completely new colour option that layers ordinary paint over a highly compressed layer of flake to create a deeper, more lustrous shine. Even in white the difference is obvious - and deliciously premium.

space and practicality

Choose anything above the basic S model and you'll benefit from

Fact File

Lexus NX 300h Premier

from £42,995

ENGINE: 2.5-litre petrol engine & electric motor
TRANSMISSION: E-CVT automatic driving front wheels
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 112mph, 0-62 in 9.2s
ECONOMY: 54.3mpg (combined)
CO<sup>2</sup> RATING: 121g/km winter-beating four-wheel drive.

The NX is a bit of a Tardis, too, with 475 litres of boot space courtesy of a huge hidden compartment and enough rear legroom to let your kids have a game of boules. There's also a space-saver spare wheel as standard - unique among the NX's rivals.

But check this out for a practical feature: the bottle holder in the centre console has a high-friction base so you can open twist-cap drinks with one hand. Very neat. There's also an induction charging pad that needs no wires to charge a compatible handset.

You're basically driving the future

Behind the wheel

For the most part the NX is high quality, especially the leathers. There are one or two small bits of Toyota-spec plastic but they're easy to ignore.

The touchpad computer interface is actually more intuitive than you might initially give it credit for, too.

The drive is impressively refined, with supple suspension, decent body control and super-smooth response from the hybrid powertrain. It's not that hard to accelerate gently away using just the electric motor, but on the other hand the outright performance is nothing Usain Bolt would get excited about.

At least the seats are worth a postcard home. Big, perfectly supportive and highly adjustable, the only caveat is for drivers who like their seat back very upright, at which point the forward-leaning anti-whiplash headrests become a pain.

The Mark Levinson stereo - exclusive to the Premier trim grade - is worth a mention, too. It has special software to identify and compensate for the lost quality of compressed digital music and as long as the source is hooked up via a wired connection, it's brilliant. Music played via Bluetooth doesn't benefit in the same way.

Value for money

The NX has stiff opposition from its German arch-enemies but it's more than good enough to win fans at the mid-range luxury price of £34,495.

Classic FM-smooth hybrid drive is a big selling point and the clever on-board tech is right on the money. It's just a shame that so much of it is reserved for this £42,995 Premier range-topper.

Who would buy one?

There are USPs for parents, business users, tech geeks and obviously people who've had enough of the usual German options.

The NX is a clever car, and a lot of people should appreciate its comfort, gadgets and generally premium feel.

This deserves to be the car that boosts Lexus' UK sales to the next level.

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Wapping too strong but ladies teams march on

Wapping ..... 7
Harlow ..... 3
 (East Men's Hockey League, division six south east)

HARLOW'S good run came to an end as mid-table Wapping put seven past the side.

Things started well for the visitors as they took the lead in the first 15 minutes when Benn Hagger went on a trademark run and managed to beat the keeper at his near post from a very tight angle.

The lead was short-lived as Wapping levelled.

Harlow restored their lead in the second half when Andrew Boughtwood fought his way into the D and found space to shoot and score.

But Wapping struck twice to go ahead.

Harlow made it 3-3 when Luke Krzoska broke down a Wapping attack with a fine tackle and then found Hagger with a pass which led to the latter going on another run and scoring.

Tired Harlow then seemed to fall apart as the home side put four past them.

Harlow now sit fifth in the league, and welcome Havering to Leventhorpe next week.

HARLOW: Castillo, Gorringe, Johnson, Ottley, Greenall, Mace, Krzoska, R.

UNHAPPY ENDING: Harlow's Rhys Mace

Boughtwood, Hagger, A. Boughtwood, Munro.

Chelmsford III ..... 2
Harlow ..... 3
 (Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division)

VICTORY in a five-goal thriller over hosts a few places higher in the premier division, has given Harlow

Ladies plenty of room for optimism as a poor start to the season was erased.

This has traditionally been one of the hardest away matches of the season on a fast pitch against opposition often much younger than the Harlow side.

Chelmsford didn't disappoint and when they broke away down the right side, out-pacing the Harlow defence, the ball was fed to the centre forward who put the hosts ahead.

Stung, a through ball from Emma Tweddle found Steph Hawes with her back to goal in the D and she turned brilliantly and scored with a reverse stick shot.

Against the run of play Chelmsford went ahead with a fortunate goal.

Harlow responded and Tweddle saw a shot stopped by a defender on the line.

Harlow's pressure eventually told as a ball across the D broke to Hawes whose shot was followed in well by Georgina Esterhuysen.

With time running out, the ball fell to Hawes and she made no mistake as she sealed her hat-trick by putting Harlow 3-2 ahead, thus earning her the player of the match accolade.

Harlow defended superbly in the closing stages, with Rowley pulling off a fine save as they held out to record their first away win.

Harlow are at home to Romford this Saturday. They are now eighth in the 12-team table.

Harlow II ..... 8
Redbridge ..... 0
 (Essex Women's Hockey League, division four)

HARLOW Ladies' second team are five points clear at the top of division four after an 8-0 home victory over Redbridge & Ilford thirds.

Sarah Donaghey's early strike deflected off of Amy Stevenson's stick and went into the bottom right corner of the goal.

Donaghey then hit a straight strike that flew past the keeper for 2-0 just two minutes later, and Tracey Taylor netted the third 14 minutes in.

Tanishka Naidoo fired into the top left corner for 4-0 just before half-time.

Harlow made it 5-0 14 minutes after the restart.

Naidoo's shot was saved but Stevenson got the rebound, unleashing a straight strike that flew into the top right corner.

Naidoo's tap-in made it 6-0.

Shortly after this Donaghey took the ball on and drilled it into the D with a straight strike, putting Harlow 7-0 up in the 27th minute of the second half.

Hannah Thake then completed the 8-0 rout.

Second for Jemima at Great South Run

SEVEN-year-old Jemima Pratt secured second spot in the U9 age group when she competed in the Great South Run in Portsmouth on Sunday.

She was among a number of young Harlow Athletic Club members who competed in the junior and mini races.

It was Jemima's first major race as she progresses up the ranks.

She clocked a fast time of 5:58 over the one-mile course, losing out on gold by one second.

In the 9-11yrs girls' 2.5km event, Charlotte Pratt (11) finished in seventh place (10:08), Savanna Sirkett

(11) was tenth (10:15) and Maddie Bailey (9) was 68th (12:35).

In the boys' 9-11yrs 2.5km race, Kai Boggan (11) was fourth (9:18) being pipped on the line for the bronze position with Peter McRae (10) 143rd (11:43).

In the girls' 12-15yrs 2.5km race, Zoe Rutter (14) was 17th in 10:18.

In the boys' 12-15yrs 2.5km race, Lewis Harknett (14) was 12th (8:31), and his twin brother Owen was 38th in 9:30.

After the race the Harlow youngsters also posed for a photograph with Great Britain athlete Jo Pavey, see right.

Hawks bounce back to win a Bears necessity

HARLOW Hawks bounced back from consecutive losses, as they won by just two points at Berkhamsted Bears on Sunday in a closely contested and physical game.

Russ Allan top scored for the Hawks with 17 points, and Alex Hinds contributed with 13.

The Hawks went down to six players early on when acting player-coach Lee Morris suffered a cut to an eye in the opening quarter, and was forced to sit out the rest of the game.

The Hawks began the

Berkhamsted Bears..... 57
Harlow Hawks ..... 59
 (Herts Basketball League, division one) game by showing great composure, moving the ball well for easy baskets, resulting in every player in the starting five scoring in the first quarter.

Nevertheless the Bears continued to cause trouble inside and, despite back-to-back three pointers from Shab Niaz and a score from Rimantas Norkeliunas, the Bears were able to stay in the game.

The first quarter finished 21-20 in favour of the Bears.

The second quarter saw the teams continue to trade baskets, as Allan and Nick Moss provided a combined 10 points in the opening minutes.

However some unforced errors allowed the Bears to have easy scoring opportunities on the fast break, leading to a 7-0 run.

At the end of the half, the Bears remained slightly in front with the score 36-33.

With both sides battling for possession, it was some excellent rebounding from Allan and Moss that gave the Hawks a much needed boost in the third quarter, as both Allan and Niaz benefited from three pointers each.

A late score from Tom White ended the third period 47-45 in favour of the Hawks.

As the game came down to the final minutes, the Hawks were able to hit a number of crucial shots including a jump shot from Hinds and free throws from Moss.

The Bears were not so fortunate at the free throw line, as a number of misses decided the game.

The Hawks held on to come away with an impressive and well-deserved victory.

HARLOW HAWKS: Allan (17pts), Hinds (13), Moss (9pts), Niaz (9pts), White (8pts), Norkeliunas (3pts), Morris.

● THE Hawks lost 62-67 against the Genting Raiders in the league at home on Wednesday last week. Norkeliunas top scored with 13 points, while Allan and Moss netted 12 and 11 points respectively.

Colin's great Swiss timing

COLIN Moody competed in the Lausanne Marathon in Switzerland.

The Harlow Running Club member was 401st out of 1164 finishers and was fourth veteran 60 in a superb 3hr 46min 04sec.

Meanwhile at the Gunpowder Park run 5K at Waltham Abbey, Jamie Jephcott came home fifth out of 126 finishers in 19:10.

His son Daniel was eighth in an excellent 19:28, a personal best (PB) time for the distance and a new HRC U20 record.

Also running were Rick Ricketts (10th in 19:47), Jason Haigh (13th in 20:24) and Louise Kedge (68th in 27:39) in what was her debut at the distance.

At the Braunstone Park run 5K at Leicester, Andy Kinney was 165th place out of 253 in 27:54. The next day Kinney finished the Leicester Half Marathon in 1781st place out of 2337 finishers in 2:15:51.

At the third of a series of three mid-week Hatfield 5K races, John Tennant came home 55th out of 163 finishers and was third vet 60 in 20:35 and he also finished third vet 60 in the series.

Endurance key for busy Jodi

MARK Hall School student Jodi Ratcliff raced in the Metropolitan Cross Country League less than 24 hours after easing to a comfortable victory in the West Essex Schools intermediate girls' race.

The 15-year-old sealed an excellent second in the U17 girls' race over a tough 4kms in 16min 47sec, 30 seconds faster than last year.

In sixth place was Alicia McARDell, from Harlow, in 17:39.

In the U11 race over 1500m, nine-year-old Tyler Jackson, from Churchgate Street, was an excellent eighth in a mixed race of more than 70 starters in 5:59.

Not far behind was St Nicholas pupil Brandon Baldicci, 10, in his first competitive club race, in 6:16 for 16th.

Daisy Poole (9), from Water Lane School, was 15th in the same race in 6:57 and Fawbert & Barnard pupil Dylan White (9) completed the course despite picking up an injury to finish 46th in 6:59.

Canaan Solomon ran in his first senior race over 8kms and can feel hugely proud of his performance.

The 16-year-old Mark Hall pupil finished 50th from a starting field of 417 in 27:55 and was fourth U20 to finish.

In a Chingford League race at Hainault, 16-year-old Ben Pattison, a Harlow College student, had a fine run to win the U17 race in 17:30. He was representing Orion Harriers.

Crusaders await

ESSEX Leopards will look to open their league campaign with a victory on Saturday when they travel to Kent Crusaders.

The Big Cats will be aiming to bounce back after going out of the National Cup with a 70-61 defeat against London Litanica at the Brentwood Centre, on Sunday.

Lawrence Brown struck 17 points.

HARLOW & DISTRICT DARTS LEAGUE RESULTS (24/10/2014):- Paringdon Social Club 6 (Rob Walters 180), Paringdon Lions 2 (Adam Wade 180); Servo Link 6, Colt Hatch 2; Tye Green Pirates 4, Moot House 4; Golden Swift 4, Tye Green Foxes 4; Sawbridgeworth Brewery 4, White Admiral 4.

Free basketball offer to develop girls team

HARLOW Hawks has set up a series of free basketball sessions for girls, with the aim of creating a team to play in a county or regional league.

Hawks co-founder Shah Niaz is hoping to build a squad of between 15 and 20 girls.

The sessions are taking place at Passmores Academy in Traces Road, Harlow between 7pm-8.30pm.

"This gives girls who may want to do another indoor sport instead of netball an option," explained Niaz.

GIRL POWER: Girls try out basketball at Leisurezone in Harlow. The basketball club is holding free sessions to attract girls to take up the sport (S)

The first of five free sessions started on Tuesday (October 28).

These will run until November 25 and are specifically designed for girls who have not played the sport before to come and try basketball.

The age range for the girls will be from school years 6-11.

"The aim is to gradually get a sufficient numbers of girls to be attending regularly so that we can put together a girls team to initially play friendlies against some other girls teams," explained Niaz.

"The level of the players is not relevant as we will teach them the fundamentals of basketball and rules of the game."

QUIT: Glen Alzapiedi, now boss of Cheshunt, quit as Hawks boss in 2009

Alzapiedi lifts lid on Hawks exit at troubled time

FORMER Harlow Town boss Glen Alzapiedi has lifted the lid on his last days as Hawks manager during a troubled time for the Essex club both on and off the pitch.

Alzapiedi returned to his old club when he brought his new Cheshunt team to The Harlow Arena in a Ryman north division match on Saturday.

The 50-year-old left Harlow in the summer of 2009, after failing to save the Hawks from relegation from the Ryman premier division.

Alzapiedi, who was a midfielder for the Hawks in the 1990s, had been appointed Harlow boss in December 2008 following the sacking of player-boss Ryan Kirby when the club went on an 11-match losing streak.

Alzapiedi was appointed by then chairman Simon Morgan, but when he quit the club in a summer of turmoil that followed the club's relegation, the manager's job was under threat.

He claims incoming chairman Carol Bothwell told him he had to win his first three league games or he would be sacked.

He was upset about this and two days later, in July, decided to leave the club.

This left Harlow managerless with the league season a month away, so Bothwell appointed rookie boss Anthony Anstead, 30.

However, he was clearly out of his depth and was eventually replaced by fans' favourite Marvin Samuel in November of 2008.

Alzapiedi said: "She [Bothwell] told me if I didn't win the first three games I was going to get the sack. It was clear to me it was time to move on."

Alzapiedi improved Harlow when he initially took over, but they were never far from the relegation zone and a killer blow was when they suffered a three points deduction when they fielded new signing Ricci Crace. He was ineligible but played in a premier division fixture against Wealdstone after an administrative error.

He said: "In terms of what I wanted as a manager I wanted to implement a style of play."

"But for circumstances, I would have succeeded in the premier league that season. The points deduction that we had, had a big effect on us."

"Suddenly we needed seven points and not four from the last four games to survive."

He added: "I had been told that Ricci Crace was OK to play. But he was still registered as a contract player at Enfield Town."

"What was happening off the field was out of my hands."

Ambers left with eight as red mist helps Harlow

Harlow Tn ..... 5
Cheshunt ..... 1
(Ryman League, north division)

BY THOMAS NANCARROW
star-sport@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Town boss Danny Chapman labelled his side's 5-1 victory over eight-man Cheshunt at the Harlow Arena on Saturday as a 'ridiculous' game.

The Hawks' unbeaten run rolled on to 17 games, stretching their lead at the top of Ryman division one north as rivals Needham Market lost.

After seeing three Ambers players red-carded, Chapman said: "It was ridiculous if I am being honest, it's one of those one-offs that happen once in a blue moon."

The manager said the three dismissals for the Ambers spoiled the contest as a spectacle.

"The sendings off, they are what they are, I am not going to say the ref was right or wrong because I don't really know much about them."

"It did spoil the game because in the end it became more like a training session and I mean that as no disrespect to Cheshunt because they had to do what they did," he said.

Goals from Alex Read, Shane Stamp, Billy Jones and two for Dave Cowley completed an easy win.

Chapman said: "At the end of the day we wanted the three points today and that is exactly what we have got, we scored five goals so for me I am a happy man but I would imagine that Glen [Alzapiedi - the Cheshunt boss] is not quite happy at the moment."

"Fair play to them because after they have gone down to eight they have sat back and stuck together as much as they possibly could, but at the end of the day it [the result] was always going to happen."

It meant an unhappy return to Harlow for ex-boss Alzapiedi, as he saw Lewis Payne, Aryan Tajbakhsh and Josh Fagbohun all dismissed during the match.

Adam Bolle scored a tremendous equaliser for Cheshunt in the second half when the visitors only had nine men but after Fagbohun's

Payne was red-carded by referee Mark Mellor after he reacted to a foul on Cowley by kicking the ball at the grounded Harlow midfielder.

Cheshunt's task became even steeper in first-half stoppage time when Tajbakhsh received a second yellow for allegedly verbally abusing the referee.

The nine-man visitors incredibly equalised six minutes after the restart when Bolle rifled superb strike into the top left corner from 20 yards.

However, after Fagbohun's moment of madness a minute later, the game was afoot, as Cheshunt went down to eight.

The introduction of winger Jarod Small paid dividends when his cross was nodded in at the far post by Stamp on 61 minutes.

The Ambers were still in the contest until the 80-minute mark - but then Harlow scored three times in five minutes.

Substitute Jones slotted the ball home through Williamson's legs.

Cowley scored his second on 81 minutes with a piercing strike that took a deflection and flashed through the Cheshunt defence and into the goal.

Read rounded off the scoring with a neat header back across goal into the bottom right corner on 84 minutes.

HARLOW TOWN: Thompson, Glasgow (Jones 74), Eadie, Urquhart, Toner, Simms (Lorenzani 82), Applah (Small 57), Cowley, Read, Smith, Stamp.

Beth (14) seals Essex medal double delight

BETH Harryman took pride of place among Harlow gymnasts by winning two medals at the prestigious Eastern Counties regional finals in Ipswich.

Fourteen-year-old Harlow Gymnastics Club member Beth was representing Essex.

Her outstanding performance secured a bronze medal for vault and bronze medal for bars.

The St Mark's student also placed fourth on floor and tenth on beam, finishing in a notable eighth position overall in the level four competition.

Despite illness, there was also a superb performance in the level 3 competition from Leah Johnson (13).

Leah, a student at Burnt Mill, ranked sixth on the beam and ninth on the floor, finishing in a commendable 14th place overall.

The duo previously qualified to compete for Essex at this competition against top representatives from Suffolk, Hertfordshire, Norfolk, Cambridgeshire and Essex.

Harlow Gymnastics Club head girls coach and co-owner Gordon Mitchell said he was very proud of the gymnasts' performances.

Beehan's magic day of 25 bream

NINETEEN members of Stort Valley Angling Society travelled to Roswell Pits in Cambridgeshire and had a successful trip with a total of 339lbs 12ozs being weighed in.

Top rod on the day with 25 bream for a winning weight of 72lbs 9ozs was club captain Bill Beehan.

Brothers Danny and Gary Cruse were second and third with 63lbs 14ozs and 40lbs 10z respectively.

The Lea Cup, fished locally at Hoddesdon's Rye House, saw Danny Cruse victorious with a winning net of 6lbs 14ozs.

Then 17 anglers visited Weeley Lakes near Colchester, where this time Gary Cruse, employing excellent long-range feeder tactics, landed 56lbs of bream to win the outing.

His sibling Danny was second with a net of 25lbs 13ozs, whilst Bobby Groom landed 22lbs 12ozs for third.

A total of 251lbs 2ozs was caught on the day.

Depleted Colts slip to defeat

HARLOW Colts were one player short when they went down 34-10 at home to Essex rivals South Woodham Ferrers in a friendly.

With a whole host of players unavailable for selection due to injury, holidays and work commitments, the Young Rams we did well to get 14 boys out to play.

Harlow were 17-5 behind at half-time.

The hosts lost a player through injury at the break, so SWF agreed to resume with 13-a-side.

But as the boys ran out of steam, SWF racked up the points.

Harlow's tries were scored by Jack Almond and Kai Sharpe.

Rams' late heartbreak in title crunch match

Sudbury ..... 22
Harlow ..... 15
(RFU, London three north east)

THE Rams might be sitting pretty in third still, but Saturday's narrow defeat to second-placed Sudbury has dealt a hammer blow to their title aspirations.

And it doesn't get any easier for Harlow as they host leaders Cantabrigians in their next game this coming weekend.

The Rams are eight points behind Cantabs and Sudbury, both locked on 29 points.

Playing up the hill in the first half, with the sun at their backs, Harlow came under early pressure from a home team intent on moving the ball wide at every opportunity.

Initially Harlow's defence held firm, but a handling error on the edge of their own 22 saw Sudbury awarded a scrum on five minutes.

The Suffolk side worked a blind-side move and put away their right wing who touched down near the touchline.

The Sudbury fly-half missed a tricky conversion.

Luke Bowering was adjudged to have obstructed the Sudbury full-back and was sent to the sin-bin.

The home team immediately sought to turn the screw but Harlow weathered the storm with some great defence.

A run by Rob Mackie moved the play up to the opposition 22 and pressure from Harlow forced a penalty.

Shaun Roberts, returning as captain and in the starting XV this week, opted to kick to the corner rather than take the three points.

The decision proved the right one with Kain Claridge finishing off a driving maul to level the scores. Ryan McGlone missed the conversion.

With just a few minutes left in the first half, Sudbury attacked strongly.

Sudbury reacted quickly to a loose ball and quickly recycled to score an unconverted try in the corner.

It was 10-5 to the home team at the break.

Harlow immediately forced their way into the Sudbury 22 after the half.

After spreading the play from one side of the pitch to the other the Rams hammered away at the home team's line and forced another penalty, this time in front of the posts. McGlone stepped up to extend Harlow's lead to 15-10 with 20 minutes left to go.

Sudbury responded and Harlow's defence was out-flanked as the right winger broke free before being brought down short of the line. Like the first half, quick recycling from Sudbury allowed them to score in the corner to level the score at 15-15.

The conversion was missed.

With 10 minutes to go Harlow were hanging on and despite maintaining parity across the field could not break out of their own 22.

Inevitably the home pressure told and the Sudbury fly-half broke through the line and after evading two tackles scored under the posts. He converted to seal a 22-15 win.

Mackie said: "This week we are at home to Cantabs, the current league leaders. Any support will, as always, be much appreciated by the whole team."

HARLOW: Ephgrave, Bolt (M. Bowering 60), Trearner, Unwin, Twiner, Roberts, Drake (Hawkins 60), Claridge (Palmer 50), Woodington, Goodey, Gleeson, L. Bowering, Brown, McGlone, Mackie.

Cowley turns pro after super year

GOLFER Gabriella Cowley is competing in Morocco this week as she bids to earn a place on the European Tour.

Following on from her performance for the England women's amateur team at the World Amateur Championships in Japan, where the side came eighth out of 50 nations, Cowley, of Threshers barn in Harlow, turned professional on Tuesday. The 18-year-old, left, has enjoyed an astonishing year, representing Great Britain and Ireland in the Curtis Cup in America. In Japan, earlier this month the England team was inspired by her colleague Bronte Law, who finished third overall.

This secured the top 10 finish, England's best performance since 2008.

Cowley had played rounds of 76, 75, 77 and 74 as she was 93rd on +14. Australia won the team competition.

Eadie targeting goals to get a cut in rent!

Father of Hawks left-back offers great incentive

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

DON'T be surprised if Hawks left-back Layne Eadie starts shooting from 50 yards out - he has cut a great deal with his dad to cut his rent if he scores more goals!

Eadie, who lives with his parents, negotiated the brilliant deal as his father looked for a way to inspire him to score more goals.

The Harlow left-back has already scored two goals this season, but is thirsty for more - and plans to renegotiate his old deal so he pays even less.

The 21-year-old former Norwich City academy player said: "I think I might have to renegotiate that. I got eight goals last season but I felt I had a poor season last year."

Eadie joked that he might get a house off his father if he hits 20 goals - no wonder he gets so far forward for a full-back.

He explained: "Every goal I score my dad would knock off a certain amount of the rent. He needs to rethink his strategy. He could be losing a lot more. But last season I really under-achieved on my goalscoring."

"I would love to get double figures this season, but I will settle for seven or eight."

But that might well cost Mr Eadie Snr a pretty penny or two.

Harlow are back in action on Saturday when they face a long trip to the south coast to visit Ryman premier division strugglers Lewes in the first round of the FA Trophy.

There is prize money of £2,700 available for the victory.

A replay would be at Harlow on Tuesday.

Hawks are still without centre-half David Kendall and utility player Robbie Martin.

Harlow cause upset with win at Southend

THE Hawks secured a famous win at Roots Hall as they dumped Sky Bet League Two side Southend United out of the Essex Senior Cup at the third round stage.

Alex Read opened the scoring when he headed in.

But Southend hit back and scored twice to lead 2-1 at the break with efforts from Shaquille Coulthirst, on loan from Tottenham Hotspur, and Jack Payne.

However, James Smith levelled when he scored with an outstanding strike on 71 minutes.

Read put Harlow 3-2 ahead when he volleyed home for his second goal of the evening.

Dave Cowley made it 4-2 on 85 minutes, and Harlow held on to record a famous win.

The draw for the fourth round was due to be made just after we went to press today, so log on to www.harlowstar.co.uk to see who Harlow got in the next round.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman is delighted with his side.

They have lost just one game all season, and are unbeaten away from home.

He said: "The confidence has been there for a long time, one thing we feel that we have got above all else is if we are in front and teams equalise or if we go behind we have this great mentality of we can still go on and win the game."

"I have lost count of how many times this year where that has happened, you look at last Tuesday night away at Heybridge, 2-0 up then 2-2 a lot of teams would fold but no bang we kicked in again and that is a great trait to have."

"The confidence is there, we are 17 league games unbeaten and if you discard the play-off one last year [against Witham] I think that is 30 league games the club has been unbeaten for."

"It is a great trait and hopefully it will stand us in good stead going forward," said Chapman.
